Two town meetings this fall

Wilmington voters will be called into town meeting twice in the next two months. The first special town meeting will be on Sept. 19. A second meeting will be held in late October, but no firm date has yet been established.

The business of the first meeting will be to accept state aid and finalize the budget. The second special town meeting in October will be to vote on proposed renovations for the high school.

Monday night, Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski told the selectmen that he had decided on two meetings because of the need for prompt action on the budget and a delay in getting state approval for the high school plans. The state ruling is not due until Sept. 27.

An early October town meeting was precluded by vacations of key personnel, meaning that the vote on the school plans could not be taken until late October. If the town were to delay an extra month in setting the tax rate, Stapeczynski said, the cost of borrowing would exceed the cost of another town meeting.

Selectman Jim Stewart said that the Permanent Building Committee had narrowed its choice down to one set of plans to submit to the School Building Assistance Bureau. These plans, he said, do not include a field house. Stewart indicated that the committee had learned that it would be more likely to have the plans turned down if a field house were included. There was no state funding for a field house. The plans, though, do include a new gymnasium.

The price tag has not been set, he said, but the architect has said that the cost will be over $3 million. The SBAB is expected to pick up 50 to 55 percent of the cost.

Chairman Dan Ballou said, that he had been interested in having more than just one set of plans to take before the voters.

Selectman Rocco DePasquale said that the committee had started out looking for a field house. When the NESDC report came out, he said, this took a back seat.

Stewart said that another concern was that when the cost of the school is bonded, the principle and interest would be deducted from the town's first levy limit. If the money is bonded, then cuts might have to be made elsewhere to come up with the money.

"It's a question of how much we get back from the state," said the town manager. "It also depends if new construction continues."

Nicki Johnson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, asked if it would be possible for the Permanent Building Committee to prepare a separate article in the warrant for a field house. Stewart replied that the state would not allow splitting a proposal.

Town meeting will decide official map case

All that Mary Ann Delaney wants to do is build a house and move in.

The Board of Appeals has granted her permission to build a house, with one restriction. All she has to do is pave 1000 feet of street, a very expensive proposition.

The problem comes about because of the town's official map law, passed ten years ago. That law recognizes certain streets as legal for building, and requires anyone building elsewhere to build a legal street.

The intent of the law was to prohibit speculative builders from building at the end of dirt road and selling the house, with no regard for the road. This practice had left many new homeowners expecting the town to pave the street.

Miss Delaney's case comes about because her land is on a street not recognized by the official map. She wants to build a house on Marion Street Extension. She grew up on that road, and her parents and sister both live there.

When the official map was issued and approved, it did not recognize Marion Street Extension.

The road has been there for well over a hundred years, but has never been paved. The residents of the street want to keep it that way, preferring the rustic beauty of a country lane over the convenience of a paved road. They feel that it is a much safer place to raise children.

Miss Delaney appeared before the Board of Selectmen on Monday night with Dan Gillis, former selectman and planning board member, now on the Wilmington Housing Authority. They were exploring how she could go about building the house without building the road.

Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski said that he had consulted with the town counsel, and was told that a two-thirds vote of town meeting would be required to change the official map.

In asking for a variance from the official map, Miss Delaney had brought indication of a hardship before the board. She was bothered that the board had not even ruled on the hardship issue.

"I started this some time ago. Interest rates are going up. Everyone seems to be making light of something that I take very seriously."

"They (Board of Appeals) say they gave a variance, but they did not," said Gillis. "There was no variance given."

Harriet Lombard of Glen Road said that she had a map from before 1865 which showed the road. She said that her family had owned land there, but that her brother had not been allowed to build.

"They just hamstring you. They expect you to put out thousands of dollars," she said.

Tom Southmayd, brother-in-law to Mary Ann Delaney, was allowed to build a house on the road about eight years ago. He reviewed the process by which he was allowed to build. The variance was granted by the Board of Selectmen, which then was sitting at the Board of Appeals on official map cases.

Southmayd said there was no way he would want the road paved.

Miss Delaney pressed the board on the hardship issue. Because more than 20 days had lapsed since the Board of Appeals rendered its decision, she could not appeal it in court, although she said she felt she should be allowed to because the board, she felt, had not rendered a proper decision.

Tewksbury appeals decisions

The Tewksbury Board of Appeals on August 22 granted a special permit to A & B Automotive Inc., 1220 Main St. to operate a gas station, sell other petroleum products, conduct auto repairs, and sell up to 25 used cars on that lot. A variance was also granted for 1258 Main Street.

The company, is owned by Armand and Robert Langlois, who have been operating the Arco station for years at 1220 Main Street. They have also had a small second hand car operation on property they were leasing.

Atty. Jay Gaffney III represented the two brothers before the appeals board. The property they have purchased

Heidi. Unger graduates

Heidi J. Unger, daughter of William and Joan Unger of South Oliver Street, Tewksbury recently graduated with high honors from Bay State Junior College of Business in Boston. She was awarded an associate degree in applied science - airline management. She also served as secretary of the college Travel Club.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS Office of the Commissioner of Banks THE CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK, Lowell, Massachusetts has petitioned the Commissioner of Banks for permission to establish a branch office to be located at 1780 Main Street (Route No. 38), Tewksbury, Massachusetts. Any objections or comments relative to this proposal must be communicated in writing to the Commissioner of Banks, 100 Cambridge Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02202 no later than September 7, 1983. A public hearing will not be held unless the response is considered significant by the Commissioner. The petitioner's application, Community Reinvestment Act statement, and all communications relative to the application will be available for public inspection at the Office of the Commissioner of Banks.

has been operated as a gas station, and they now have 1½ acres instead of the minimum space at the Arco station. The two brothers will continue gas sales at the old site as well.

There was no difficulty. The brothers may have up to 25 cars for sale on the property, but none may be closer than 25 feet from the street.

Longest driveway

If George Behrakis builds the home he plans off River Road in North Tewksbury, he will have a driveway that will be 1218.19 feet long. The annual plowing bill might possibly equal the annual tax bill.

Behrakis, who lives in Lowell, is the owner of a drug store off East Street and near the Andover line. He bought the eleven acres of land on River Road, he told the Tewksbury Board of Appeals on August 22, as the result of a chance remark during a golf game. He wanted land in Tewksbury so he could make the town his home.

The lot has only forty feet of frontage on River Road. About 150 or 200 feet from River Road it becomes wider, to about 300 feet. There will be about 125 feet of land suitable for a lawn on each side of the driveway.

He was seeking a variance based on insufficient frontage. The appeals board felt that there should be other stipulations. Possibly, Behrakis may want to sell some of that land in the future.

The stipulation made by the board is that if the property is ever proposed to be a subdivision, the home that is to be built will have a minimum of 125 feet of frontage, and such an area as is required by the zoning bylaws at that time.

Another appeal for Sarkisian

The appeal of Charles Sarkisian of 1689 Main St. to change the family residence into an office building was denied by the board of appeals on August 22. However, the board will word its decision so that Sarkisian can appear before the board on a

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to offer a sincere, heartfelt thank you to members of Wilmington's Fire Department, especially the men who were on duty around 8:30 p.m., Friday, July 29 when my house caught fire. Thanks to modern methods and good, old-fashioned dedication, my home suffered less damage than would seem possible to anyone who saw the fire at its height.

All the inspectors, workmen etc. who have examined the damage have remarked on the 'miracle' it must have taken to stop the fire at this point - and save the house. It may have been a miracle, but it was performed by flesh and blood firefighters - Well done you guys, very well done, indeed. - Thanks.

Elizabeth Andrews

further appeal within a year.

Sarkisian's home faces Main Street between the two entrances to Hinckley Road. It is located in a light industrial district, and there is a business now being conducted in the home. The business entrance can not be from Main Street, but must be from Hinckley Road because Main Street is a state highway (route 38). There is, according to the building inspector, insufficient front yard setback, insufficient rear yard setback, and less than one acre to be used for parking.

Sarkisian said he has a commercial art business, but he also wanted to provide offices for rent to others. He hopes to move out of the building after a while but will keep the commercial art business going. In answer to questions, he said the maximum parking on the lot would be for ten or twelve cars.

There were about 20 people present in the hearing room. Many raised their hands to show they were in opposition. There were remarks about families with young children, about possible noise, and about Sarkisian plans to go to Colorado for one year.

He still has a year to appear again before the appeals board.

Other action

In other action the same evening, the board granted to Arnold J. Heenan Jr., 20 Wolcott St., a variance for a house lot near his home with a 60 foot frontage on Brown Street. There had previously been a large summer camp on the lot. The lot will be 10,000 square feet, the same size as others in the area.

A number of neighbors were present in favor of the variance. Patricia Brananic, 5 Neptune St., was granted a variance involving a swap off land with a neighbor. The variance is to allow for a driveway. There will be a sale of land in the future.

Mosquito control hints

Recent incidents involving Eastern Equine Encephalitis has caused a number of people to be concerned.

The Tewksbury Board of Health would like to take this opportunity to remind residents that the prime prevention lies with the individual. If you or members of your family are going to be outdoors for any length of time, particularly in areas where there are bodies of standing water, be sure that as little as possible bare skin is exposed.

You should also use insect repellent when outdoors.

The following is a list of 10 home precautions that can be taken to help prevent the growth of mosquitoes:

1. Eliminate all standing water.
2. Cover rain barrels with insect screening.
3. Seal breaks and openings in cesspool covers.
4. Stock ornamental pools with fish.
5. Drain clogged roof gutters and flat roofs.
6. Eliminate standing water in cellars.

Views On Dental Health

By RANDALL SMITH, D.D.S.
85 Wilmington Road,
Burlington. Phone: 272-0540.

BITING YOUR CHEEK AT NIGHT

If you've noticed that you sometimes bit your cheek at night when you're sleeping, this may indicate a combination of problems, such as tension, irregularities in teeth surfaces, or improperly aligned teeth. Some people express tension by clenching and grinding their teeth, either while awake or unconsciously when they're asleep. When the lower teeth are rubbed against the upper teeth this is called bruxism. If you grind your teeth from side to side this may result in a bite or damage to your cheek or lips.

You may be able to relieve the emotional aspects of the problem by trying to eliminate whatever is causing the tension. The dental aspects can be helped by your dentist. For instance, he can check the relationship of your bite to see if there are any irregularities in your teeth that are causing problems. He may suggest that you wear a Hawley-type appliance or a night guard to help break the bruxing habit. This will also give him another way of checking your bite to find out what dental problems should be corrected.

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

I am very disappointed that Mel Keough has been replaced as the state appointee to the Wilmington Housing Authority Board. I am not surprised however, that politics played a large part in this decision. Isn't it unfortunate that the elderly must be the pawn for the selfish desires of a chosen few?

The residents of Deming Way feel that they have lost a caring and available friend even though Mr. Keough has assured them that he will continue to "be around."

Whatever happened to the concept of placing the right person in the right position? Apparently this is not what the state or "certain people" in Wilmington wanted. This decision has once again proven that politics does not always have the best interest of Wilmington in mind.

For those who may not yet be aware of it, Mrs. Elaine Hatchey became the new state appointee on July 29.

She appeared quite reluctant to talk about it and I can't help but wonder why.

Did she know that Mr. Keough had not yet been notified of his replacement?

Mr. Keough did receive a letter from the Executive Office of Communities and Development that had been written on July 5 and signed by Amy Anthony (secretary E.O.C.D.). The strange thing about this letter is that it wasn't mailed until Aug. 2 - after Mrs. Hatchey was sworn in.

Do we question the competency of Miss Anthony's secretary, or do we follow another line of questioning?

Now that the change has been made, let us hope that Mrs. Hatchey will take the time to concern herself with the needs of Deming Way.

While it is important to acquire more housing for the elderly and low and moderate income families, it is equally as important to make sure that what we now have is being properly cared for. Is it?

Is it possible that a new director and secretary would better serve the resident and the needs of Deming Way? Could be!!

Food for thought?

The Roving Eye

Dear Larz:

Congratulations to the editors of the Town Crier for allowing Debby Michals to bring all the pieces together in the recent "maneuvering" of certain school committee members to override the intended laws of Mass. regarding to naming a principal for Wilmington High School.

The last two articles written by Miss Michals were most enlightening and gave an comprehensive report on all aspects of this ludicrous situation.

Thank you Dr. Sager for "standing tall" against the threats and least we forget, kudos for Linda McMenimen for her forthright honesty.

Poor government and poor education comes about when good citizens sit on their hands instead of standing on their feet. Now is the time for all truly interested parents to get involved in the process of educating our children. Accept your responsibility with courage and challenge. You cannot send a child to school with the attitude "Now teach me!" Teachers cannot teach anyone who does not want to learn.

Attend P.A.C. meetings and continue to attend School Committee meetings. This is an exciting time for Wilmington public education, let all of us move forward with a feeling of pride and responsibility to one another and our children.

Anne Linehan

Dear Larz:

I wish to add to and clarify the reported "confrontation" between school committeewoman Linda McMenimen and myself at a recent Wilmington School Committee meeting. Let it be understood I have a great deal of respect and sympathy for any elected official, as well as any administrator. They play a very difficult role in the decision making process.

My sole reason for speaking at the school committee meeting was to focus on two items. First, to compliment the superintendent on her alternative of recommending a candidate who, on a temporary basis, could be voted in the affirmative by a majority of the school committee so that the high school could operate in September.

The second point was to suggest that the superintendent either recommend a candidate who would be acceptable to the school committee or indicate to the committee, in confidence if necessary, why she could not or would not recommend another candidate from the list of finalists. It was while making this point that Mrs. McMenimen, without recognition from the chair, attacked my motives, and my personal and professional integrity.

This outburst, in my opinion, was degrading and uncalled for. During a recess I asked Mrs. McMenimen for an explanation and an apology.

She responded that since my daughter was married to a Cushing and since Jack Cushing was supporting William Fay for the high school principalship I was therefore acting in Mr. Fay's behalf whenever I spoke. This was insulting. It attacked my personal honesty and integrity and I told her so.

Larz, I attended all six candidate interviews, and all but one of the school committee meetings. My only purpose was to observe the process as an interested citizen. I am not related to any candidate, nor is there any commitment to, or any personal relationship with an candidate. At no time have I fostered the candidacy of any person. That is the responsibility of the superintendent and the school committee. However, as with many others, it became more and more frustrating to hear that, in meeting after meeting, the same names were being recommended and being rejected overwhelmingly.

The role of the superintendent is to recommend, in her opinion, the most qualified candidate. But, realistically she must also be prepared to recommend the most qualified candidate who is acceptable to the electing body, the school committee.

I felt that unless the superintendent could persuade the school committee, by documentation, that a certain candidate had something in his or her background or experience that made that person not a viable candidate, then that candidate should get consideration. Parenthetically, being past president of the Lexington Rotary Club, my bias does show when I state I cannot accept that being a member of Rotary makes a person an inappropriate candidate.

I was a public school administrator for 25 years, prior to my retirement, and have lived in Wilmington for 26 years and had never spoken at a school committee meeting, but along with many others the selection of a high school principal became a very frustrating process to observe. Therefore, my attempts were only to find a resolution to the problem. And then, to be personally attacked by an elected town official was unheard of in my experience.

To Mrs. McMenimen's credit

she did privately apologize to both my daughter and me during the second recess. This, however, was not done from the same forum she used originally. I accepted her apology with the hope that she will restrain herself from future "out of order" outbursts and try not to analyze motives without knowing the facts.

A further point. When I did act as a paid consultant to the school committee and Dr. Pierce in 1980 my charge was to bring before the committee for interview only those candidates who were qualified to act as asst. superintendent of schools. Dr. Pierce and I agreed on this list with the understanding that any one of the five finalists could handle the position. This understanding was based on a five to one vote of the committee. Mrs. McMenimen voted in the affirmative. I did have an order of preference, as did the superintendent, but we felt all candidates who came before the committee were qualified.

And yes, Mrs. McMenimen, you have my memo on record that Dr. Carol Sager was on my list of qualified candidates.

Mitchell J. Spiris

Dear Larz:

I have a complaint against the Wilmington Police Department. I hope this makes the paper because the more times I see cars parked in tow zones and no tickets, the more angry I get!!

About a month back I received a parking ticket for parking in a no parking, tow zone in front of Wilmington Plaza.

On August 3, I was cleaning windows in my place of employment when Safety Officer Shelley parked in the tow zone. I asked Officer Shelley why he can park there and not get a ticket while us citizens do get tickets. His reply was that he was on police business - since other officers were in there having a bite to eat. Officer Shelley had then asked me if I had received a ticket and I said no, and then he had asked me again and I said yes. He said I should not have parked there in the first place, but if the police can park there, why can't we?

Officer Shelley asked me if he should park at Wilmington Ford and walk over and I said yes.

Marlene Rooney

P.S. The other day when I was at the plaza, a Wilmington Ford car was parked in front of a no parking zone and a female police officer just rode by it, not even giving them a ticket. I hope you print this letter because the more I think about this the more angry I become.

Michele Lombard is engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lombard, 72 Glen Rd., Wilmington have announced the engagement of their daughter, Michele Helen Lombard, to Dr. Daniel Ewart Fowler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Fowler, of Exeter, New Hampshire.

Michele is a graduate of Wilmington High School and Boston University School of Nursing. She is currently employed at New England Deaconess Hospital, Boston.

Her fiance is a graduate of Philips Exeter Academy, Dartmouth College and Boston University School of Medicine. He is currently a second year resident in family practice at Wheeling Hospital, Wheeling, West Virginia.

An October wedding is planned.

Let's wake up fore it's too late

There's not much left of Wilmington to preserve,

All the town owned land around the common and Rt. 62 should be put in reserve. Now all our town fathers should surely agree, There's not much beauty left in Wilmington to see.

The Swain, Buzzell, Center School and 'lil old library, so grand, Should be kept by the town 'till the proper decision is at hand.

The Center School is the only one so useless and obsolete,

But keep that land to make our "center," complete.

The beauty of the centers, of all the towns that surround,

Should impress our town fathers, so the proper decision could be found.

Why waste the taxpayers' dollars on a temporary town hall?

Make a permanent decision and have it more centrally located, to be enjoyed by all.

Then imagine a sign, "Welcome to Wilmington"

Erected on our beautiful town common — to Proudly present our Wilmington to all. . .

Wouldn't our town fathers then all feel more proud and tall?

Town meeting to consider rezoning Ballardvale St. land

Two articles have been submitted for the September 19 special town meeting, seeking to rezone land on Ballardvale Street to industrial. One parcel is 80 acres, the other 10.

Reading developer Tony Tambone presented his article before the selectmen Monday night. He said that he has assembled 10 parcels to make up an 80 acre development. He said that the 10 parcels were either under option or in negotiations.

Tambone's proposed rezoning would include all of the land between the end of the present industrial zoning, and the Sons of Italy property. The largest parcel is the Paolini gravel pit. He is also seeking to buy another 20 acre parcel from New England Power.

Tambone said that the development would have buildings of 750,000 square feet, used for office and research.

Attorney Tom Roussell also appeared before the selectmen with a rezoning proposal for the Howland Development Corp. The proposal is for 10 acres north of the Sons of Italy property.

Hurley to prepare new zoning regulations

Kevin Hurley of Concord, the planning consultant who prepared the new zoning bylaws of Wilmington, is ready to prepare a set of rules and regulations for PRD development in Wilmington. His proposal is to prepare one set for the planning board, and at the same time to prepare another set written for the board of appeals.

No one has, as yet filed anything leading to a PRD rezoning, but one is understood to be in preparation.

The planning board regards the offer favorably. Regulations for PRD are very different from regulations for zoning, which apply only to street and lot sizes. There can be a lot of confusion, if the differences are not made clear.

The proposal was in two parts. A lot of discussion on part one resulted in a unanimous agreement in favor. Part two will be discussed at the next meeting.

In any event the town manager too, must be in agreement. Hurley's proposed cost for the planning board is $1400.

Palazzi named WLHE program director

The staff and management of WLHE Cable Radio, Woburn, have announced the appointment of Frank Palazzi, known to his listeners as "Frank Fitz," to the position of program director.

Palazzi, a Wilmington resident, has been with WLHE for two and a half years as an air personality and as music director. He is currently a student at Emerson College, Boston, Class of '84, nearing completion of a bachelor of science in mass communication. Frank, who is 21, is the youngest program director in WLHE's history.

Mildred Neilson

Oldest official retires

Wilmington's oldest town official has retired. The Wilmington Board of Selectmen on Monday night accepted the resignation of Mildred Neilson from the Sarah D.J. Carter Lecture Committee. On motion by Rocco DePasquale, the selectmen then voted her a lifetime honorary member of the committee.

Mrs. Neilson served on the committee for 61 years. She is now 93 years old.

Elizabeth White of Cedar Street has been appointed to the committee, replacing Mrs. Neilson.

Wilmington Planning Board approves Middlesex Avenue subdivision

The Wilmington Planning Board on August 23 approved a new subdivision, Middlesex Pines, to be built off Middlesex Avenue in North Wilmington. The subdivision will be on land to the west of Middlesex Avenue, property of James (Jay) and Theresa Palmer. Ten house lots are being proposed.

The Palmers have already obtained a variance so that they can build a new home for themselves immediately on the first lot. The variance was from the board of appeals several months ago. They have sold their present home on Middlesex Avenue, effective October 1.

The new street, to be called Palmer Road, will be constructed from Middlesex Avenue opposite First Avenue. It will be 1410 feet long, with a waiver from the planning board on length. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer told the planning board that they do not believe they will be doing the building of the homes in their subdivision.

There will be several ponds, as part of the plan, to retain the water. The street crosses a blueberry area with, presumably, a lot of peat. The Palmers hope to retain as many of the blueberry bushes as possible.

They requested a waiver to have a sidewalk on one side of the street only. This brought about a long debate on the part of planning board members.

Arnold Blake was in favor, pointing out that there were no sidewalks on Middlesex Avenue. He lost on a three to two vote. Chairman Bill Hooper proposed two sidewalks for the entrance area, because eventually another part of the subdivision is to be built, to the southward. This lost on a two to two vote, with one abstention. Blake and Tony Gentile voting No, the first time the two men had agreed on a subject in months. Albert Reidy moved to have no sidewalk, and Blake seconded. Again the motion was lost. The planning board was sort of non-plussed, not able to agree in any way.

Tony Gentile solved the problem, pointing out that the Palmers had requested a waiver, and it had not been granted.

A waiver was approved for a "Cape Cod" berm to the street, that being a nearly flat berm, not liable to be destroyed by snowplows.

Another provision, asking the developer to develop a roadway and easement over to the Francheschi property and property of the town was voted down.

A request to waive a part of the underground wiring, required by the planning board, was also voted down. There will be underground wiring for the entire subdivision.

MCC holds fall course registration

The Middlesex Community College Division of Continuing Education will offer over 600 credit and non-credit courses when the semester starts September 12. Walk-in registration has just begun at the Continuing Education Office at the North Campus in Bedford. Evening registration meetings will be held at the Instruction Centers in Dracut (Aug. 31), Arlington (Aug. 30), Stoneham (Aug. 30) and Acton (Aug. 31) during the week of August 29.

Formal evening registration will be held at the Burlington Campus Tuesday, September 6 and Wednesday, September 7 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Program representatives and academic counselors will be available to discuss all courses.

Over 80 of the 600 courses are brand new this year. New programs in purchasing and inventory control, and banking are the product of affiliations with the American Production and Inventory Control Society and the American Institute of Banking (Merrimack Valley Chapter).

The Allied Health Division will offer new credit courses in Medical Assisting and Medical Laboratory Technology, while courses for continuing education units (C.E.U.'s) are offered in nursing, radiologic technology and emergency medicine. A review course for the Sonography Registry Exam is also offered.

Technology courses include the computer language Pascal and an individualized study course in Advanced Programming. The drafting program will offer a new course in Basic Drafting for those who wish to acquire a general familiarity with drafting rather than a formal certificate.

Liberal Arts students may choose from new courses in art, communications, theatre, economics, human relations and philosophy. The humanities division in particular has expanded its program with courses in "Eastern Philosophy," two and three dimensional design and communications courses in "Public Relations, Publicity and Community Relations" and "Mass Communications."

Non-credit courses offered by the Division of Community Services include personal development courses: "Financial Planning for the 80's," "Self Discovery through Journal Writing," "How to Save on your Taxes" and others. The Institute for Small Business Concerns offers computer and office automation courses for the small business or professional office practice.

For more information about any of these programs or courses, consult the MCC Division of Continuing Education Catalog or call 275-8910, x 240.

Spotlighters perform at Fanueil Hall for Muscular Dystrophy

Labor Day will be very special for the Silver Lake Spotlighters Touring Company this year. They have been invited to perform at 2 p.m. in Fanueil Hall, Boston, as a part of the local effort of the Muscular Dystrophy Association and WCBV-TV (Channel 5) to raise money in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

"Performing for Jerry's kids is a real privilege," said Tom Freeman, a Reading resident and regular touring company member. "We're glad we can help out."

Another touring company member, Gwen Scott of Wilmington, urges all of the Spotlighters' friends to join them at Fanueil Hall. "We hope to see lots of familiar faces in the crowd down there. We're really proud to be a part of the Telethon and we'd like our friends to be there to support us and do a little something for Jerry's kids."

The touring company, which consists of 20 singers and dancers who perform selections from Broadway shows and popular music in cabaret style, has entertained throughout the state for civic groups, community events, corporate meetings, and private parties. They will be performing Sept. 14 at St. Thomas' Church in Wilmington and weekends in September at the Bull Run Restaurant in Shirley.

For more information about the Silver Lake Spotlighters' Touring Company, contact Celia Bartolotti, 646-2327 evenings.

Board approves new AMC lot

The Wilmington Planning Board has approved the latest plan submitted for the lot where a new American Motors agency is to be established in Wilmington. The selectmen granted a license Monday night, August 22, and the planning board approved the site plan on Tuesday.

The plan was submitted by Mike Nicolsi, a builder who, by this time, is quite familiar to the planning board members.

Among other things, the planning board told him that there would be no need of marking off parking spaces, except for places for handicapped people. The lot is to have a 25 foot grass plot, which Arnold Blake dubbed "a green spot in an asphalt jungle."

Nicolsi told the board that Ben Restuccia, owner of the land, is planning to plant some trees in back, near the area where the sewer was constructed. The idea is to shade the lights from across the street, for people on Shawsheen Avenue, and to hide the remains of the sewer construction from people on Main Street.

Nicolsi expects to purchase up to 200 eight to 10 foot trees for the area next to the sewer line.

Cathy Manuel, a young deaf resident of Butters Row, Wilmington, has recently completed a two week schooling period at the Hearing Ear Dog Program and returned home with her new dog "Maggie," who will alert her to the sounds of an alarm clock, telephone, doorbell, door knock, name, and smoke alarm.

Massachusetts law allows

Cathy to take her hearing ear dog with her into all places of public accommodation. The dog can be identified by its bright yellow harness.

It cost $1800 to train a hearing ear dog. The deaf recipient pays $150.00 of this amount.

The Wilmington Community Fund contributed the remaining funds so that Cathy can now live a more independent and secure life.

Planning board continues hearing for Metropolitan park

The Tewksbury Planning Board has continued the hearing of August 22 for the proposed Metropolitan Industrial Park off North Street. The new date will be September 26 at 7 p.m. in the DPW building on Whipple Road.

Mike Speidel of Metropolitan told the board that several engineering studies being made for his company had not been completed. When he does make the presentation he said, he wants it to be a complete review, together with a plan of action, cost estimates and a work schedule.

The $26,000,000 industrial park is to be between Ames Pond and North Street and adjacent to Interstate 495.

There were questions on zoning by James A. Quinn of 733 North St. He believed that a 300 foot buffer zone was required. The planning board cited the regulations as being 100 feet.

Debra Drive

The planning board also discussed but did not rescind a $3,000 bond for the construction of Debra Drive. The proposed street is off Pleasant Street.

Wilfred Lambert argued for rescension. The street, he said, had been the subject of wrangling for three years. He wanted to know how long the issue would continue to be hassled.

The board was told that there had been a letter, and a telephone call to the developer, but there had been no registered letter.

Members voted to send a registered letter, and have a hearing in two weeks.

Disagreement on 50-foot lots

Arguments about "50 foot lots" in Wilmington are again in fashion. A. Daniel Gillis, former selectman and planning board member and Attorney Joe Courtney have been continuing the arguments before the board of appeals.

There are two laws with direct reference to this type of lot in Wilmington. One is called the Webber Amendment. The other is the Fred Cain law, passed by the state legislature.

About 30 years ago, at the time of a town meeting adopting new zoning bylaws, Stanley Webber proposed an amendment that held any valid house lot in 1935 would still be a valid house lot under the new bylaw. This was voted by the town.

A little later the state legislature passed a law saying that anywhere in Massachusetts it was legal to build on house lots having a width of 50 feet and an area of 5,000 square feet. There were hundreds of such house lots in Wilmington.

The result was a near catastrophe, with out-of-town builders buying house lots all over Wilmington and building homes to sell. The Wilmington Planning Board took action, with Danny Gillis being one of the prime movers.

Danny Gillis and Joseph Courtney drafted a special law, for Wilmington, saying that 100 foot frontage on a street, and 10,000 square feet of area was required, for a valid house lot in the town. Rep. Fred Cain took the bill to the legislature and filed it for legislative action.

The key to Cain's action was that he filed the bill on the day that the Red Sox opened their season in Boston.

As he hoped, those persons who would be against the bill never noticed it, and it was voted through. It became law, a special law, in Wilmington.

That law prevented anyone from just buying 50 foot lots in Wilmington and building new homes. Gillis, Fred Cain and Joe Courtney took satisfaction from that fact, and from the part they played in getting the law through the legislature.

A few weeks ago the Wilmington Board of Appeals heard a case involving a 50 foot lot on Phillips Avenue. It was the property of Rita Voner. The case was continued to August 23.

On that day, Tuesday evening, Joe Courtney and Danny Gillis may be said to have squared off, one against the other.

Courtney was pleading the case for Mrs. Voner. The lot, he said, had been in existence since before 1934. It was a valid case of being covered by the "Webber Amendment."

Gillis was pleading the case of the Fred Cain law. He had the figures on how many 50 foot lots, and how many other odd sized lots there were in Wilmington in 1966, when he and Fred Cain went into the State House.

"If this passes it can be a disaster," were his words at one point.

There were other arguments too, but those of Gillis and Courtney were the principal ones. The acting chairman of the appeals board was George Robertie.

Robertie, at the end of the 25 minutes of discussion requested Courtney to file a brief with the legal points being discussed. That brief, he said, would be turned over to the town counsel for his study.

There will be a ruling by the board of appeals in their next meeting, Robertie promised. That will be early in September.

Two abutters seek 50-foot lot from town

Two abutting land owners would like to purchase a lot of land from the town of Wilmington. The lot is 50 feet wide, with an area of 5,000 square feet, and is off McDonald Road.

Roy Crane of 30 McDonald Road has written the selectmen offering to buy the land. Mr.

Crane has lived at his present address over 20 years and is the owner of about one acre of land.

Another offer comes from George E. Figler of West 55th Street, New York City. Mr. Figler owns 5,000 square feet, abutting, he believes that, with the two lots, he will have a buildable lot of land.

Arnold Blake retires again

Arnold Blake, Middlesex Avenue, long time water commissioner and a man who has served on the planning board of Wilmington for four years, has again retired. Blake, it will be remembered, retired from the planning board at the end of July.

He was persuaded to remain for one more month. The plea was that there would be important business to be conducted. Blake has now served that month.

Blake was to be noticed during his service on the planning board for the number of times he disagreed with other members. Such was not exactly the case on August 23.

For five successive votes, his vote was Aye.

Then the planning board got to considering the real estate development off Middlesex Avenue, with the questions about sidewalks and other things. None of the members was able to agree on items about sidewalks. Arnold voted No several times, with his last vote being for No Sidewalk.

He is now retired, and will not serve again, he says.

Polymer Technologies breaks ground on addition

Polymer Technology Corporation broke ground recently for an 8000 square foot expansion to its existing 10,000 square foot facility at 33 Industrial Way.

Founded in 1973, the innovative high technology research company developed a new generation of silicone-acrylate contact lens material that is used to produce the Groundbreaking ceremonies were held at 33 Industrial Way, Wilmington for an 8,000 sq. ft. addition to a building occupied by Polymer Technology Corporation. From left, Selectman Jim Stewart, Acting Town Manager Bob Palmer, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Daniel Ballou, Jr., Dr. Perry Rosenthal, Chairman of the Board of Polymer, Sam Altschuller, President of Altron, Incorporated, Louis Mager, President of Polymer, Nicki Johnson, President of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, State Rep. Jim Miceli and State Rep. Michael Barrett.

Mary Hanson is candidate for Silver Haired Legislature

Mary Hanson, 22 Congress St., Wilmington, has announced her candidacy for representative in the Silver Haired Legislature.

Mrs. Hanson has been active with AIM, a group working in Wilmington to aid and direct problems facing the handicapped. She was recently a member of the Special Needs Committee for two years in Wilmington and is on the executive board for Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston.

She was the recipient of the Volunteer of the Year Award in 1978. The plaque read "In appreciation of untiring dedication to the handicapped in Greater Boston."

Since moving to Wilmington and receiving her Council on Aging card, Mary has taken part in the dancing classes for seniors, as well as the swimming program at Shawsheen Tech. She is anxious to work on behalf of senior citizens.

Having a son in the high school, Mrs. Hanson is also a PAC member and was a PAC member at the West Intermediate School in 1980 and 81.

She is interested in the major issues affecting the elderly residents in the area, such as housing, home care, nutrition, transportation and medical expenses.

Boston Lens II Contact Lens. This rigid gas-permeable contact lens offers high oxygen permeability and inherent wettability - two properties previously thought to be incompatible.

According to Perry Rosenthal, M.D., chairman of the board and director of medical affairs for Polymer, the company is undertaking the expansion in anticipation of the Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) approval of The Boston Lens II Contact Lens which is expected shortly. The Boston Lens II Contact Lens is part of a comprehensive system which also includes a special conditioning solution and cleaner. Polymer Technology Corporation is the only company to develop such a complete system.

The expanded facilities, due to be completed in December 1983, will include additional research and development laboratories and production facilities. Within the year, Polymer anticipates adding 20 employees to the existing Wilmington staff of 40.

Louis D. Mager, president of Polymer said, "We are extremely pleased to be a part of the growing Wilmington business community. We are committed to Wilmington and view our expansion as a symbol of that commitment."

Introduced in Canada in September 1978, The Boston Lens Contact Lens has already been fitted on over 250,000 patients north of the border and is now one of the leading contact lenses fitted in that country, having captured 20 percent of the Canadian market. This lens has also achieved wide use and acceptance in 30 other foreign countries. The Boston Lens II Contact Lens is currently being investigated in the United States by leading regional contact lens manufacturers who are conducting clinical studies under an investigational device exemption (IDE). In addition, Polymer Technology Corporation has itself conducted an investigation and filed a premarket approval application with the FDA. Consumers have participated widely in these and the FDA's Ophthalmic Advisory Panel has already recommended that The Boston Lens II Contact Lens be approved for commercial sale. According to Dr. Rosenthal, the rigid gas permeable lens category is expected to top the $200 million sales mark by 1990, and will represent approximately one-half of all contact lens volume at that time.

The building at 33 Industrial Way is owned by Altron, Incorporated of Wilmington. Altron occupied the building from 1972 to 1978, when it was leased to Polymer Technology.

Architect for the expansion project is Peter Samaris of Lawrence. Construction is under supervision of Scott Construction Co. of Haverhill.

Regional Health Center offers programs

Two weight control groups based on behavioral, medical and nutritional principles, will begin in September at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington. Both educational programs are based on the needs and eating habits of the individuals, rather than the group.

Learning to lose is a 12-week program best suited for adults who want to lose 30 pounds or less and have no significant medical problems. These criteria will be used in determining appropriate group participants. (Those who have a lifelong weight problem or medical condition may be referred to Lifestyle Changes for Weight Control.)

Nutritionist Marilyn M. Pasierb, R.D., M.S., will cover the following in the program: rate of loss and exercise; identifying hunger; motivation; calories; intake of fats, sugar, fiber and sodium; concern about ideal weight; keeping food records and personal meal planning.

Registration for this group is due by Monday, September 19. Accepted registrants will be notified by September 22. The group will be limited to 12 participants. An orientation session will be held Monday, September 26 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Lifestyle changes for weight control (LCWL) is a 20-week intensive group experience beginning with orientation Wednesday, September 28 from 7 to 9 p.m. This group is appropriate for those who need to lose more than 30 pounds or have medical conditions such as high blood pressure, heart disease or diabetes.

Conducted by a registered nutritionist and group dynamics leader, LCWL focuses on behavioral changes and weight loss through lifestyle management. It is a comprehensive, medically-based program involving individual diagnosis of problem eating behaviors and learning new habits and skills in an open, positive support group environment.

Elvira Q. Johnson, R.D., M.S., nutrition services coordinator, and Cindy R. Levine, L.E.C. S.W., social services coordinator, group leaders, will include gaining self-awareness and self-esteem, behavior modification of eating and exercise habits, managing stress and assertiveness in the program.

Weekly blood pressure and weight checks, and nutrition information are incorporated in the program. A computerized diet analysis and materials are also included in the fee. Not only have former LCWL participants lost weight, but they have significantly lowered their blood pressure and blood sugar level; and in some cases, diabetes and those with high blood pressure have been able to reduce their dose of medication.

This program requires a major commitment to lifestyle change and about 30 minutes of homework each day. Any person not comfortable with his or her present weight and between 20 and 45 years old is appropriate for this group. This group is limited to 15 participants.

Success in either group depends upon the individual's commitment. Those with fairly stable relationships and no major life stressors (new baby, divorce, etc) will be most apt to attain their goals.

Both groups require pre-registration and attendance at orientation is mandatory. Participants are encouraged to take family members or close friends to orientation as they are an important part of the support system.

Registration for LCWL is due by September 12 and a physical exam with laboratory tests is required. For more information, call 657-3910, ext. 567. There is a fee for both programs and payment options are available.

Manning and Helen Balcom

Balcoms celebrate 50th anniversary

Helen and Manning Balcom of Westdale Avenue, Wilmington were the surprised guests of honor, Sunday, at a party held at their home, commemorating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married, in Somerville, August 23, 1933, by the Rev. Delong of the Nazarene Church and shortly thereafter moved into the Westdale Avenue home, where they have lived ever since.

Many fine gifts were received by the happy pair, including a money tree from their six grandchildren and bouquets of flowers from their nephew Gordon Balcom, and family of Georgia and Manning's sister, Lennie Nickerson, and family of Florida.

More than 40 friends and relatives were on hand for the gala affair, which was given by the couple's children.

Mumps vaccine required for school children

The Massachusetts Department of Health now requires that all students be immunized against mumps and rubella. This falls under Chapter 77F, Section 15 of the Massachusetts Immunization Law.

It will be necessary to exclude any child in Tewksbury from attending school starting the first school day in September, unless he - she has received the necessary immunization over the summer.

If your child had not received this immunization before the end of school in June 1983, it will be necessary for him - her to take a record of this immunization to the school nurse in order to be admitted the first day of school.

Leaks found in Wilmington water mains

A leak detection survey for Wilmington has found a total of 14 leaks in the Wilmington water mains and services. The work was completed last week by the Water Waste Pipe Testing Company of Lynnfield, at a cost to the town of $7250. There will be a 50 percent of costs reimbursement from the Commonwealth.

The biggest leak was in the water fountain system in Wildwood Cemetery. Someone, last fall, drained the pipes to the water fountains and left them open for the winter. In the spring the drain valve was closed and the main valve was opened. However, the underground drain valve was defective. Thirty gallons per minute (gpm) was being lost into an underground stream.

The second worst leak was in the service pipe to a private home. It had been replaced by a private contractor. There were two leaks in one pipe line.

The total loss was 100 gpm. Six hydrants were leaking six gpm. Two water mains were losing 18 gpm.

The loss constituted about five percent of the daily consumption of water in Wilmington. The total estimated leakage was 52.5 million gallons a year. Five percent is said to be a low figure. Billerica has been reported as having had a leakage of 18 percent.

The annual savings to Wilmington will be about $25,000.

No Sidehill Dodgers

Pictured above is Overlook Drive, which overlooks Ames Pond in Tewksbury. Builder Fred Baldwin has approval to change lot sizes for houselots there.

Cluster housing proposed for Overlook Drive

Fred Baldwin, a Tewksbury builder, does not own a Side Hill Dodge. Those "animals", part of American folklore, have legs that are longer on one side than the other so that they may walk more easily around mountains.

Overlook Drive in North Tewksbury overlooks Ames Pond and is a place where Side Hill Dodgers could live. The street was carved out of the side of Ames Hill, a granolithic drumlin (hill) from the days of the last glacier.

Four houselots on Overlook Drive have no homes. In the others, the garage for the family car is over fifteen feet below the level of the street or an equal height above the street. But in the case of those four houselots, the problem was too much.

Some owner, in days past, stripped all the loam. Either that owner or another builder built a wall of granite blocks to keep rocks from rolling down onto the street. But, with reference to the grade, it was impossible to make a driveway for the use of the all-important automobile.

Fred Baldwin appeared before the Tewksbury Board of Appeals on August 22 with an answer to the problem. He proposed something that can be compared to cluster zoning, where all the houses are built close together.

Baldwin proposed to cut the lot widths from 125 feet to 100 feet to get the homes closer together. The remainder of the land, one and a half acres, would be owned in common by the owners of the four homes. The homes will be 24 by 34 foot garages, he said, each with two car garages. He will restore the loam, and there will be nice lawns.

Instead of four impossible driveways, there will be one that leads out to Overlook Drive. From that driveway, there will be two more, each one to service two new homes.

The board of appeals approved. The planning board also approved, but there are still questions on how the decree should be worded and what to do about a 50 foot right of way that may not exist.

The two boards will meet with the town counsel on September 12 to make a final decision.

Town Crier Sports

Sports Notebook

by Rick Cooke

Getting back to the sandlots

I can remember when I was a 10 year old growing up in Billerica, and everyday after school during the spring and throughout the early summer months about 10 or 15 of the neighborhood kids would gather up the bats, balls and weatherbeaten gloves and hustle over behind the Kennedy School or even some spacious backyard for a game that has all but vanished with the popularity and rapid expansion of local youth baseball leagues.

That game is sandlot baseball. No umpires. No coaches. No adult supervision. It was really a joy to work up a friendly competitive sweat with your buddies without having to deal with some coach's strategy or parents in the stands affecting the play of your teammates. Baseball at its purest. Plain and simple fun, with no real rules to bog the game down.

Of course my team always lost. I was always captain of one squad with my best friend at that time, Rick Nestor (who later went on to star as a running back at Bilerica High School) the opposing captain. He was quicker than I was and had more all-round athletic ability, so naturally when a crucial play was needed he was right there making it.

The losses were frustrating, but damn it was fun. Years later when Rick and I were reunited together on a high school football all-star team, those sandlot baseball games were the first memory that popped in.

I also recalled that after the sandlot action stopped and we went on to play little league baseball and compete against each other, it just wasn't the same. We had uniforms, supervision, parents in the stands. And my team always won. In fact we went on to win the Billerica Little League championship. It might have helped that we had a pair of pretty decent little league pitchers in Bob Miller (I'm sure Bruins fans remember him) and Bob Danehy (Wilmington Softball League pitcher for the Sons of Italy). Another 'vital' cog was a good-field, no-hit catcher by the name of Cooke.

I tell this story only because every summer I cover the various Little League All-Star games where the players and parents are sacrificing vacation time and bouncing from field to field in pursuit of victories that are all very official. That experience can be a very rewarding one, but whatever happened to kids playing pickup games for the sheer joy of doing just that?

I might be a bit wacky, but those sandlot games with Nestor and the pack of Billerica kids, most of whom weren't good enough to make any little league team, meant more to me than any official championship or trophy at the time.

The sandlot games were more a means to knock around with your pals than compete for a spot in the standings. The pressure was off. The feeling of friendship took over. Completely.

I'm not saying that friendships can't be established when a kid plays competitively while wearing a uniform. The sad fact is that too many of today's young athletes don't know the joy of playing ball in the backyard. Too much of their time is spent playing for 'real.'

So when a group of Tewksbury youngsters, many of them senior league players, recently offered to play an exhibition game against an 'official' Dracut all-star squad looking for some game practice, it was decreed that they could not wear Tewksbury Youth Baseball

Just about that time

In just one week the Wilmington and Tewksbury High School football teams will be heading for their respective preseason camps. It was just last Thanksgiving that the two archrivals tangled at the Wilmington High School field.

Wilmington Softball League

Down to the Final Four

The Wilmington Softball League's version of The Final Four will tangle for that circuit's championship this week with six nights of action at Tom Aprile Memorial Field.

Sportsworld, the Sons of Italy, Doyle's Hardware and D and D Gulf will square off in round-robin play, with the winner to be determined after games Monday night, August 29.

Sunday night (August 21) D and D Gulf advanced with their 3-0 victory over North Wilmington Shell that gave the victors that series two games to one.

Winning pitcher Tom Woods chucked a two-hitter to best Battling Bernie Wagstaff, who was also outstanding in hurling a five-hitter.

Doug Harrison slashed a single and a triple for the winners, scoring one run and accounting for an RBI.

Tom Woods (RBI single), Kevin Smith (sacrifice fly) and Bob Woods (double) rounded out the Gulf attack.

Barry Hanson and Earl Paulsen produced singles for North Wilmington Shell.

Sportsworld also advanced in action Sunday night, clipping Bill and Bob's, 8-1 to win that series two games to one.

Paul O'Donnell was the winning hurler with his five-hitter, besting John O'Melia. The primary stick support came from Rusty Ryan (three hits), Bob Frongillo (triple, homer) and Ken Morse (double, triple). Bob Stewart banged out a pair of hits for Bill and Bob's.

Pat Palmer mashed a bases loaded triple in the bottom of the seventh to give his team this exciting victory. Palmer also singled earlier in the game to spark the Bill and Bob's cause. Dave Stewart and Dave Newhouse Jr. rapped three hits apiece for the winners.

Joe Burbine, red-hot throughout the regular season, paced Sportsworld with a single, double and a homerun good for four RBIs. Rick Feindel and Snooky Lynch stuck in two hits apiece for Sportsworld.

Doyle's Hardware 11

Wilmington Ford 3

Winning hurler Kris Hinzman fired a four-hitter, with offensive support from Bob Aprile (double, triple, homer), Paul Gracia (three hits) and Tom Bromander (double, homer).

Mike Moran spanked a double and a triple in support of losing pitcher Doug Sousa.

Thursday, August 18
D and D Gulf 11
No. Wilm. Shell 10

Gulf knotted this series at one game apiece behind the booming bats of Bill Sinopoli (single, triple, three runs scored, three RBIs) and Bill Blaisdell, who had two hits, including the game winning single in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Earl Paulsen slashed two hits for North Wilmington Shell, with Joe Simmons chipping in with a three run homer.

Sons of Italy 4

Jim Miceli Club 1

Bob Danehy came up with a superb game, hurling a five-hitter for the winners. Chris DiCecca (single, two doubles) along with Gary Hastings and Carl Capozzi with two hits apiece, led the Sons of Italy attack.

Paul Bova boomed an RBI double in support of losing Miceli Club pitcher Rick Nickerson.

Wilmington Youth Baseball

White Sox are champions

The 1983 White Sox, sparked by the pitching of Steve Hanfin, Scott McMillan and Dale Gaffey, who struck out 185 batters in 93 innings, recently won the Wilmington Little League Major Division championship.

The smoking bats, of Dale

Gaffey and Steve Hannafin tied for the league homerun lead with four, while batting .500 along with Scott Millian.

The slick fielding of Paul Maiella, Mike Bento, Steve Killelea, and Scott McMillan, plus the individual contributions of each team member earned the White Sox a 13-3 record.

A special thanks to the team's parents for their support during the season, and a tip of the hat to the Tewksbury-Wilmington Lodge of Elks for their support and sponsorship.

Skating club in full swing

Just in case there are some of you who think that figure skating ends once the warm weather arrives, you are wrong. Figure skating in Wilmington is alive and well and flourishing.

The Wilmington Figure Skating Club, whose home base is the Youth Ice Arena on Upton Court, has many skating members busy with practice, testing to improve their proficiency levels and competing in skating competitions.

The club is proud of the members who tested and passed at the following levels: Jennifer Armstrong of Wilmington passed her sixth figure test; Leanne Babine of Tewksbury passed her third figure and intermediate freestyle test; Yuko Fukuda of Tewksbury passed her third figure test; and Amanda Farkas of Wilmington and Robin Andrews of Reading, passed their preliminary figure tests.

The club is also proud of its members who have entered various skating competitions. For example, at the Colonial Open Competition, Mari Fukuda of Tewksbury placed first and received a gold medal. Her sister Yuko finished second in her level of competition and brought home a silver medal.

Also placing in their competitive levels were Allison Newton of and Julie Palmquist, both of Andover. Lindsay McCracken of Andover rounded out the group from the Wilmington Figure Skating Club.

Again in August the girls traveled to Cohasset to compete in the Cohasset Open. Julie Palmquist of Andover placed second and was awarded a silver medal.

Finishing high in their respective groups were Allison Newton and Lindsay McCracken of Andover, and Amanda Farkas of Wilmington.

Just a reminder that the Wilmington Figure Skating Club is gearing up for its fall season, to start September 14.

Anyone interested in helping the club, or those having children who would like to participate should call for more information: 658-6651, 475-4856, 688-3886, 658-2412.

TMHS volleyball

Tewksbury High School's first volleyball practice is set for Monday, August 29 starting at 9 a.m. at the TMHS gymnasium. All candidates should report to this first practice. Coach Chet Flynn notes that practice will continue at the TMHS gym throughout that week, and attendance is mandatory.

Recreation Bowling registration

Tewksbury Recreation Bowling will hold registration for the 1983-84 season September 8 at the Town Hall from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, September 10 at the Wamesit Bowling Alleys, from 9 to 11 a.m. Anyone wishing to take part in this year's bowling program should register at either of these times.

The newly organized board of directors voted to lower the age requirements so that any boy or girl reaching the age of eight as of October 1 will be eligible to bowl. This means on Saturday mornings at nine and 11, groups will have four age groups: eight, nine, 10 and 11-year-old boys and girls. The Tuesday and Friday evenings age groups are 12 - 17 years.

Registration fee will be $1.00, payable at the time of registration. Bowling is $2.25 per week, which includes three strings of bowling, shoes and dues. All dues money goes toward banquets, awards and the turkey roll-off.

The bowling season runs 24 weeks. The first two weeks will establish averages and instructions for new bowlers, the last two weeks are for team roll-offs.

There will be no bowling on school vacations or school closings due to holidays and snow days.

All parents are responsible for picking up their children on time at the bowling alleys.

TMHS football season tickets

Season tickets for the five home Tewksbury Football games to be played at Doucette Memorial Field are on sale now at the Director of Athletic's office, Center School annex, Pleasant Street, Tewksbury, Ma. 01876 (enter rear of school). The cost of the season ticket is $12.00 for adults and $7.00 for students.

Home opponents this year are Haverhill, Dracut, Lawrence Central, Billerica and Wilmington.

Season tickets will be on sale every work day until September 23, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. For more information, call 851-6044.

Benefit burnout

Top competitor Rod Butcher raised some smoke for the crowd at the Tewksbury Youth Basketball benefit car show Saturday. Close to 1500 people came to Jim Boudreau's on Main St. to see 33 dragsters and show cars. The front wheels on Rod's 69 Mustang are locked while the rear wheels are burning away on water soaked pavement. Mechanic Bob Kelliher held the fender to keep the car from moving sideways.

shirts. Instead they took the field in gray shirts, wearing their regular game pants and the Tewksbury all-star caps.

Now the no-shirt rule was a means of letting the kids know that this was not a game sanctioned by the league, which quite naturally was worried about insuring these players should one of them be injured.

The real point here is that coaches and the powers that be were not too pleased that some Tewksbury Youth Baseball kids had taken it upon themselves to set up a game with an area team while also coaching themselves and playing the game with a pair of volunteer umpires.

What is wrong with kids playing a game without adult supervision? What was the big deal about them wearing Tewksbury shirts? Aren't they from Tewksbury? Do the adults and various leagues enforce so many rules that kids can't organize themselves and play a game for fun and nothing else?

I've always said that there are too many rules in youth sports. Area youth league officials know my feelings on the matter, and they've let me hear their opinions and reactions, even to the point where one person called me at home years ago to let me know that he thought I was a card carrying communist because I thought that there were both too many rules and too many adults involved.

All that I'm saying here is that it is fine to have leagues organized by adults who give of their free time. Adults make rules and organize the young players, who could never get a league off the ground without the help and support of their parents and adult volunteers.

What is unfair about all of this organization is that the kids' free time to do what he or she wants is gobbled up by 'league' games and practices.

The adult coaches and parents would also be better served by an occasional break from a league bogged down by rules. Where does it say that adults can't give the kids a bat and a ball and sometimes fend for themselves athletically?

There is absolutely nothing wrong with an occasional return to the sandlot. It indeed should still be very much a part of growing up.

Shriners' Rodeo comes to Wilmington

The danger, the untamed beast, the grit and the money, that's what lures men time after time to fiercely compete in one of America's most action-packed sporting traditions - the rodeo. This year, the Fifth Annual Shriners Championship Rodeo to be held September 8 through 11 at the Shriners Auditorium in Wilmington, will deliver more excitement than ever.

Three hundred cowboys and gals from all over the country will compete for $20,000 in prizes. All will be trying their best in some very perilous events requiring speed, agility, strength and luck. There will be bareback, bull and saddle-bronc riding, barrel racing, calf roping, team roping and steer wrestling. And this year, trick riders 'Montana Red' and Janice Tozzi will team with their rodeo clown John Gilstrap and 'The Rhinestone Cowgirl,' trick roper Marveenia Wells.

Practice makes perfect

When not in actual competition, cowboys and gals must keep in shape. They train with the livestock at least three hours a day, and you can be sure that these are three rigorous hours.

Funny guy

There's more to being a rodeo clown than just putting on a happy face. The clown is crucial to the rodeo, for he is the protector of the cowboy from the frantic animals during a spill. He has to be a superb athlete as well as a good crowd entertainer. John Gilstrap, this year's new clown, is one of the best in the business.

Who says it's a man's world?

Although most rodeo competitions are comprised of only male participants, there are some brave cowgirls who take part in the rodeo. The barrel racing, for cowgirls only, is an exciting event calling for speed and agility. Janice Tozzi, a rodeo favorite, is an astounding trick rider who dazzles the audience with her back bends, somersaults and head stands - all while on horseback. And new this year is 'The Rhinestone Cowgirl,' Marveenia Wells, a splendid trick roper. It may be interesting to see the rodeo - its perils and rewards, through the eyes of a woman.

How to set up

So you think it's tough getting the guys together for a little softball? Just imagine what it's like rounding up 300 cowboys and gals for a rodeo. This year's rodeo chairman, Shiner Ralph S. Cohen of Newton, will be glad to tell about the behind-the-scenes management of what is considered the leading rodeo event east of the Mississippi. His love of the west has led him to form an enthusiastic group of Shriners volunteers dedicated to making this the best rodeo ever. Harry Payton, floor manager of the Double R Rodeo, is an old hand at this business. He's been getting the rodeo ready for six years. He'll tell you what goes into it, where they get the livestock and how they care for the animals, how many tons of dirt you need for the ground and anything else you might want to know - just in case you decide to put on a rodeo sometime.

For a good cause

Everyone will be touched by the scene of rough 'n tough cowboys and gals coming in and saying howdy to several of the children at the Shriners Burns Institute. Members of the rodeo crew will be visiting the Institute Tuesday, September 6, at 2 p.m. and Saturday, September 10, at 9:30 a.m.. Four-thousand special needs children will take their places in the Shriners Auditorium to watch a performance just for them, another example of how the Shriners reach out to help less fortunate children.

Rodeo events

Bareback riding

Without the use of reins to control his horse, the cowboy must stay on the animal for eight seconds while the horse jumps, plunges and bucks. He must also spur the horse.

Barrel racing

This timed competition is for cowgirls only. Barrels are set up in a cloverleaf fashion. The timer begins when the cowgirls on horseback start at a specific point and race around the barrels, and it ends when they cross in front of the judges. If barrels are touched or knocked over, a five second penalty for each error is subtracted from the final score.

Bull riding

Sitting on top of a bull, the cowboy holds onto a long rope that has been looped around the middle of the animal weighing nearly a ton. A bull ride lasts eight seconds and the cowboy is not required to spur the animal. Rodeo clowns distract the bull and help to protect the cowboy after he has completed his ride or has been thrown off the bull.

Calf roping

While riding a horse, a cowboy must throw a rope around a running calf, stop his horse, dismount, throw his calf (weighing 300 to 350 pounds) to the ground and tie three of its feet in 12 to 15 seconds.

Saddle-bronc riding

Similar to bareback riding, the cowboy sits in a saddle and has use of a halter and one rein. With only one hand holding him on, he must spur the horse and stay on for eight seconds. Pickup men ride alongside and take the rider off after his time.

Steer wrestling

Also called bulldogging, this is the only event that was not part of the original western roundups. Credited to a Texas cowboy named Bill Pickett, Pickett would plunge from the back of a speeding horse onto the neck of a running steer. He would then grasp the steer by the head and twist the animal to the ground in three to eight seconds. At the Shriners Rodeo, two cowboys will ride out on their horses. One rider, called a hazer, tries to contain the steer by holding onto a strap. The contest riding cowboy rides on the other side of the steer, twists and pulls the animal down with its four feet facing in the same direction.

Team roping

In this event, each team consists of two cowboys. One ropes the steer's head or horns, while the other ropes the two back heels as fast as possible. The field judge drops his flag when both catches are completed and each roper has turned to face the steer.

Selection of livestock

In all rodeo events, excluding barrel racing, each contestant is 'drawn' to his livestock. Prior to the performance, all livestock is given a number. The judges place all the numbers for each particular event in a hat and one is drawn out for each contestant.

The roundup room

Located adjacent to the Shriners Auditorium, the Roundup Room will feature a country and western band for dancing. Alcoholic beverages and chuckwagon treats will be sold. Admission is $1.00 and adult showgoers only will be welcome. The Roundup Room will be open from 7 p.m. to closing.

Concessions

Shriners cowboy hats and jeans, shirts, rodeo buttons and numerous novelty items will be sold at concession stands.

Calf roping

The cowboy, mounted on his horse, stands in the roper's side of the cattle box, the calf is in the cattle chute, the field judge is mounted on a horse at the other side of the arena, and the two rodeo timers are on the announcer's stand watching for the barrier flag to drop. The barrier is a thin piece of string that is placed around the calf, run through the cattle box. The rodeo timers officially begin timing the calf roper when the barrier breaks. The judge in the arena will drop his flag after the calf roper has roped the calf and tied three legs together. The dropping of the flag will signal the timers to stop their watches. The time must hold for five seconds.

Steer wrestling

The contestant is the 'steer wrestler', who is aided by a 'hazer.' The 'hazer' must ride on the opposite side of the steer and keep him close to the 'steer wrestler'.

In this event the barrier is also used. When the barrier is broken by the steer and the flag drops, the two cowboys will run out of the boxes. The steer wrestler must catch the steer from his horse and throw the steer down.

Rotary Club plays for championship

The Wilmington and Salem Rotary Clubs are scheduled to play a one inning game Wednesday (August 24, 6 p.m.) at Tom Aprile Memorial Field for the softball championship of Rotary District 793, Boston to the New Hampshire line in Essex, and to the Wilmington-Middlesex counties.

If Wilmington wins, it will be the champion. If it loses, it will be in third place for the locals, because two other clubs have lost two games. Wilmington at the present time has a 9-2-1 record, and Salem is 9-3.

Wilmington's two losses were both to Medford, but that team still trails Wilmington and Salem.

The tie game was with Salem, called due to rain in the sixth inning with the score tied at 9-9. The game tonight (Wednesday) is for that seventh inning.

Last year Wilmington was District 793 champion with a 7-0 record.

The judge will drop his flag to signal the timers to stop their watches when the steer is down and all four legs are facing in the same direction. This event can be won in as little as four seconds.

Team roping

There are two cowboys who are entered as one contestant in this event. The 'header' must rope the steer's head or horns and the 'heeler' must rope the steer's heels.

Again a barrier is used to begin the official time and the field judge will drop his flag when both catches are completed and each roper has turned to face the steer.

Barrel racing

This is an event open only to girls. The cowgirl must run around three barrels in a cloverleaf pattern, and the fastest time is the winner. The judge stands against the fence and he will drop his flag to begin the time when the horses' nose passes him. He will drop his flag in the same manner to end the time. A five second penalty is added to the time for each barrel that is knocked over.

In all the rodeo events, excluding barrel racing, each contestant is 'drawn' his livestock. Prior to the performance, all livestock are given a number. The judges place all the numbers for each particular event into a hat and one is drawn out for each contestant.

Judging rough stock events: bareback, saddle bronc, bull riding

There are two judges on opposite sides of the arena who mark each ride. The cowboy is scored on his riding ability by both judges on a scale of 1-25 points. The horses or bulls are also scored by both judges on the same scale. The judges add their scores together to get the total score for the ride. A total score of 100 points can be awarded, but this has never been achieved. An average score is 60-70 points.

Judging the animals

The judges mark the horses or bulls according to how well they buck. Animals that jump high, kick high or turn back in either direction are marked higher than those who go straight and only buck every other step. Each judge is allowed 1-25 points with which to score the animal. An average score from each judge for the animal is usually 14-17 points, above average is 17-22, and an outstanding performance by the animal would receive a score of 22-25 points.

Judging the rider

In the bareback riding, the judge will look for the cowboy to be in total control. The cowboy, holding onto the bareback rigging by one hand only, must spur from the horses' neck back to his head in a smooth, consistent motion. This event is the wildest in the rodeo.

In the saddle bronc riding, the cowboy, using a saddle ('committee saddle') and holding onto a bronc rein, must also spur from the front of the horse to the back of the saddle in a sweeping motion.

In both events the cowboy, in order to be judged, must 'mark his horse out.' This means that when the horse's front teeth touch the ground on the first jump out of the chute, the cowboy must have his spurs over the break of the horses shoulders. If he fails to do this, he will be disqualified from the competition.

An average score from each judge on the cowboy is 14-17 points, above average, 17-22 and outstanding, 22-25 points.

In each event the cowboy must ride for eight seconds and his free hand must never touch the animal. Failure to do either will result in disqualification.

WHS tryouts

The Wilmington High School Athletic Department has announced that tryouts for this year's volleyball team will be held the week of August 29 under the direction of head coach Doug Anderson. Tryouts are open to all girls from grades nine through 12. Any girl who wishes to tryout should have a physical (High School, Aug. 28, 11 a.m.) and be at practice in appropriate athletic wear, including comfortable sneakers and knee pads or sweat suits.

The schedule for practice at the High School gym will be as follows: Monday, Aug. 29 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Tuesday, Aug. 30, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Aug. 31, 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.; Thursday, Sept. 1 to 11 a.m.; Friday, Sept. 2, no practice.

WHS field hockey

The Wilmington High School field hockey season will start Monday, August 29. All candidates for the team, including freshmen, are asked to report to the High School athletic field at 8:30 a.m., at which time equipment will be issued and tryouts will begin. The tentative schedule for tryouts will be: Double sessions, Monday, August 29-Thursday, Sept. 1, 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. Single session, Friday, September 2.

Physicals will be at the High School gymnasium Sunday, August 28, beginning at 11:30 a.m. All candidates must have a physical and parental permission.

Over 30 Division

McNamara Tire clinches title

McNamara Tire clinched the championship of the Over 30 Division in the Wilmington Softball League with a 14-0 rout over Casalot Realty last week.

George Crowley was the winning pitcher in the five inning contest, supported by the big bats of Bruce MacInnis (two singles, homerun) and Nino Tomarchi (three hits).

In a real 'pitching duel' last week, Stelio's Walter Welding and Joe Barry Oil's Elmer ('Sunny, Fudgie') Parker exchanged fifteen-hitters, walking just one batter between them. Joe Irwin ripped three hits and drove in the winning run for Stelio's. Jim Kennedy helped the cause with three hits.

The Joe Barry Oil attack was paced by John Robbins (two doubles) and Bill Fay with a single and a triple.

Garrett retires as WHS assistant principal

Wilmington High School Assistant Principal Harold Garrett has retired from the school system, effective June 30, 1983. Garrett's request for retirement was read and unanimously approved at the August 17 school committee meeting. The board also voted to post the vacancy for 30 days, after which they will begin reviewing candidates to fill the position.

Garrett, who recently served as acting principal for four months when Dr. George Eisenberg resigned, had been an assistant principal at WHS since 1967. His request for retirement did not come as a surprise to the board, because, according to Linda McMenimen, Garrett indicated last September that he was considering retiring. He asked the committee to keep his plans quiet in the best interest of the children.

When Dr. Eisenberg resigned, however, and Garrett was chosen to temporarily fill the vacancy, he applied for the permanent principalship, a position that still is filled in only an acting capacity by Science Director Richard DeRosa.

Chairman Bob Peterson was the only board member to oppose posting the position until the situation with Richard Gorham is resolved. Currently, the school board is trying to place Gorham in a position without demoting him, since the majority of the board would not favor that demotion.

In a related action, the committee voted unanimously to look within the school system for someone to serve as acting director of science while DeRosa serves as acting principal. John Brooks suggested that not looking for an active science director would force the board to hasten its decision for a permanent principal. Phil Fenton, however, said he didn't know how long the search for a permanent principal would take, and added that it would be in the best interest of the children to hire an acting science director.

Telephone work

Construction of an underground conduit system for telephone lines has been underway on Shawheen Avenue for several weeks. The work is being done by the Tornare Construction Co., and is not affected by the telephone strike.

Neighbors complain about dog

Residents of Veranda Avenue appeared before the Wilmington selectmen Monday night to discuss complaints of a vicious dog.

"I'm afraid for the kids," said Chris Merry. She told selectmen that her cat had been mangled on August 8 by Joseph Walsh's dog.

Ken Soderholm also complained about the dog, which he said attacked his 16-year-old poodle on May 2. The poodle was so badly injured that it had to be put away. Soderholm said that the dog fight took place in the street, outside Walsh's home, late at night. The veterinary bill was $172.

John Merry said that the dog had broken loose and bitten a child. He said that the child's parents did not file a complaint because they had moved away, and because the bite did not break the skin.

Mrs. Merry presented the selectmen with a petition with 11 signatures, asking that the dog be taken away. She also presented a copy of the veterinary bill for her cat, a bill of $144.

Joseph Walsh said that he had moved to Veranda Avenue in December, and that he has kept the dog either chained or behind a fence at all times. He complained that other dogs, allowed to run free, harass his dog, and that some children throw rocks at the dog. He said that he has pictures of other dogs, out in front of his home.

The dog, a pit bull mongrel, is two years old. Walsh said that the dog was used to a larger environment.

Walsh said that the fight with Soderholm's dog was instigated by another dog. Also, he said, there was a dog in heat nearby.

Douglas Dukeshire, Walsh's landlord, spoke up for his tenant — and the dog. "If we all say that the dog is vicious, does that make the dog vicious? No," he said that the dog had never bothered him when he went to collect the rent.

Dog officer Joe Balestrieri said that as far as he could see, the dog had always been restrained. He said that he had never received any complaints against the dog. No law would uphold taking that dog away, he said. He recommended restraining the dog on its owner's property.

Selectman Rocco DePasquale said that now the dog has a reputation, and the reputation is building. Now there are two complaints, he said, so the dog has one more chance. He instructed the dog officer to pay particular attention to that street, and to all dogs on it.

Dukeshire said that he only saw one complaint. No complaint had been filed by Soderholm, except verbally. He then said that if the selectmen were accepting verbal complaints, he wanted to file six complaints against other dogs on the street, who he said chased him when he goes to collect the rent.

Chairman Dan Ballou said that the board would have to know whose dogs Dukeshire was complaining about, but that he did have the right to file complaints.

Water main bids to have separate paving quotes

The Wilmington Water and Sewer Commissioners are calling for bids for new water mains to be installed in some streets of Hathaway Acres and two off Gowing Road. As now planned the bids will be opened on September 8.

The bids for street surfacing will be a separate part of the bids. The bids will be in two sections. The commissioners are reserving the right to eliminate the overlaying of the entire street surface, after the water mains have been installed. This can possibly reduce prices, a decision made after the objections of Commissioner Arthur Smith two weeks ago.

In Hathaway Acres the work will be on side streets up to and including Gunderson Road. There will be six water mains each with a hydrant at the end of the street. In two instances the water mains are to connect to the water main on Marie Drive, an eight inch main. This will improve circulation of water in the area.

Carson Drive will be one of those streets. At the present time the two inch main on that street is about 100 feet short of connecting with the main on Marie Drive.

The water mains on Oakridge Circle and Marcus Road, off Gowing Road, are to be of six inch diameter, with the new hydrants to be located as determined at the time of construction.

At age 15 she says she wants to be a model

By ELAINE L. JONES

A "GO-SEE" is a term used in the modeling profession for a job interview, a must, in the life of a pretty young girl who has committed herself to a life in this field.

Renee' Auterio, who, at age fifteen, will be a Sophomore in September at Stoneham High School, took her first step toward a career in modeling in 1982. A commercial on television, advertising the Barbizon School of Modeling, caught her mother's and her attention. They both thought it would be good for Renee' to attend in order to help her to develop poise and self-confidence. Though Barbizon is famous as a modeling school, all students do not necessarily intend to go into that profession, but may want to learn the techniques of proper make-up, the art of conversation and other social graces in order to become more polished individuals.

Renee took modeling courses for sixty-six weeks, working the classes into her regular school year by going into Boston every other Saturday. "They teach you how to apply make-up, how to walk, how to talk. We were taught good manners — how to say 'please and thank you', among other things," she said.

Now that her basic training is complete, with Mom's approval, Renee would like to try to become a successful model. When asked how the girls like herself felt about modeling, she said, "They're jumpy," then laughed at her description. "They're excited, funny and...nice."

Number one priority, according to Mother, Pat, is that Renee finish high school before she becomes too deeply involved in her pursuit of the glamorous life of a model. However, if there were some opportunities to present themselves of a parttime nature, this might be a possible consideration. But, mother is adamant that nothing must interfere with her daughter's school work, and Renee agrees with mom. She says she is an average student, who sometimes gets caught up in her daydreams about the future she hopes to have.

"I've been in two pageants, said Renee. "The first was the Miss Massachusetts Teen U.S.A. — November 19-21, 1982. There was a woman there who asked me if I was a model. I couldn't believe it! I was in shock. When she insisted that I looked like one, I told her I was just there to learn everything that I could. I was really scared! I didn't feel that I did my best because I was too nervous."

She represented the Town of Stoneham and was required to wear an appropriate costume. She chose a tiger outfit, worn with black leotards, to dramatize the Stone Zoo. There were bathing suit and evening gown competitions and the girls were required to answer questions — all of which is patterned after larger official pageants we see televised. There were 145 contestants at this event, and it proved to be a learning experience for Renee. She found the girls to be congenial for the most part, and made several new friends.

On June 3, 4 and 5th of this year, she had an encouraging experience. At the Miss New England Pageant of the States, which took place at the Holiday Inn, in New Britain, Conn., Renee found herself much more at ease. During the talent portion, which reads: "Miss N.E. Pageant of the States — Most Promising Actress", was also presented to her.

Mother, Pat, said, "If Renee wished to have a full page picture in the program for the pageant,

Renee' Auterio of Stoneham poses with PacMan

she said, "I just had fun singing and dancing to Donna Summers' song, 'I Have My Finger On The Trigger'. Wearing a top hat and black costume with tights, she twirled, of all things, a black and white wooden rifle. She impressed the judges with the novelty of her act, as well as her talent as a singer and dancer. She was awarded a $2,100 scholarship to the New York Academy of Theatrical Arts, where she will be exposed to the scrutiny of New York agents. An engraved trophy she had to raise $300 toward her favorite charity, which she did, for Muscular Dystrophy. She had watched the Jerry Lewis Telethon for several years and when she was twelve years old, she donated $25 to that cause, which was all of the money she had at that time."

More than 26,000 diets since 1920

FM TALK: A few random thoughts crossed this columnist's mind this week:

If you're thinking about writing as a career, don't be discouraged by the prospect of rejection. Consider this: many great writers have received their share of rejection slips from publishers. Thomas Wolfe wrote a play entitled "Welcome to Our Town," which was first presented at a Harvard workshop in 1923. The play failed to reach Broadway, and was rejected by publishers, so Wolfe buried it in his papers, where it remained for more than a half century. The play was recently discovered and published by the Louisiana State University Press.

Other literary giants rejected for publication at least once include "War and Peace," "The Good Earth," "Lust for Life," "To Kill a Mocking Bird," "The Tale of Peter Rabbit," and "The Leopard." Giuseppe di Lampedusa's only book remained unpublished until his death, and he died viewing his great masterpiece as an utter failure. James Joyce's "Dubliners" was rejected by twenty-two publishers before it finally reached print, and once it did, was bought up totally by one individual and burned.

Travelling up the road to literary success can be a disappointing journey indeed.

On an up note, a once-popular tv actor who's made his home in the Boston area will be returning to the screen soon to star in a new sitcom. In fact, the show is called "Sitcom," and is being produced exclusively for HBO. Alan Young, the English-born actor who played Wilbur Post in the 1960's hit series "Mister Ed," has been involved in the Christian Science movement since his departure from the screen. In the HBO pilot, Young will attempt to shake his image as the owner of a talking horse by playing the father of three grown children who all live at home and behave like kids. I had the pleasure of meeting

Young in the early 70's, and at the time he said he was retired from show business for good. But after returning to the dinner theatre circuit, he apparently had a change of heart.

Here's an item that may or may not have an effect on your heart: there have been more than 26,000 diets on the market since 1920. It's no wonder diet books are the largest selling books in the world. After cook books, that is...Speaking of dieting, I was very impressed with diet guru Richard Simmons' announcement he's going to open a number of his "Anatomy Asylums" that will specialize in exercise programs for the retarded and handicapped...I suppose it wouldn't be far to mention all this information about dieting without throwing in a plug for food too. A local fellow, Mark Levine, of Woburn, has been known to local diners as the excellent chef at a popular restaurant. Well, he wants his followers to know he's branched out into his own restaurant. It's called Marc Robert's Seafood Restaurant, located in Lowell. By the way, say hello to this reporter's dad when you stop by.

One final thought: while relaxing on the patio outside Victoria Station, at Pickering Wharf, in Salem, the other afternoon, I overheard a passerby comment that Salem State College "has a very bad financial reputation." Neither I nor my friends whom I was with could figure out what a college with a bad financial reputation is. Is it a school that operates in the red? Or are the students who attend it from poor families? Maybe it means the tuition isn't high enough to be considered financially reputable with the social

COIN SHOW

On August 26, 27 and 28, Howard Johnson's "57" in Park Square in Boston will host the famous "Bay State Coin Show" with partial proceeds to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. This event is the largest show of this kind in New England, featuring many distinguished exhibitors from the Northeastern states.

Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children. Hours are 10:30 A.M. to 7:30 P.M.

on Friday and Saturday, August 26 and 27, and 10:30 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on Sunday, August 28.

Cystic Fibrosis is the leading genetic cause of death in youngsters. Affecting the lungs and digestive system, it is incurable and its cause is unknown. Currently, research and advanced patient care services are helping the CF youngster become a CF adult and live life to the fullest. Your support in this endeavor will help insure this brighter future to these kids who struggle daily for a breath of life.

For details regarding the show, phone the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation at 1-800-362-4440 or chairperson Ed Aleo at (617) 721-1055 or 729-9677. This is just one of many shows to come to this area. A future show will be held in the fall.

Champagne, hors d'oeuvres, 14 piece band, Las Vegas games, $50.00 donation to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. For tickets call 777-0333.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS

Are you interested in the quality of services available to children in Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham and Wakefield? Do your area day care centers provide a happy and healthy environment for children? Are agencies in your area who provide services to children with special needs, those in need of protection or delinquent youth, supplying them with the best and most appropriate programs? If these issues concern you, come and be a part of our Proposal and Community Review Team.

The Proposal and Community Review Team is one of several committees of the Eastern Middlesex Council for Children. Residents and human service professionals from the area volunteer only 3-5 evening hours per month to make sure agencies receiving public money are serving children properly.

Team members are trained and supported by Massachusetts State Office for Children staff. The volunteer work of the Proposal and Community Review Team lends local agencies a community's perspective on their programs. The result is a more well-rounded children's service system.

Here's an opportunity for you to shape the quality of care children receive. For further information, please Continued to S-7

At the Cape

CAPE COD VACATIONS for local residents from all indications have increased this year as business on the Cape resorts is booming. These shots show many popular sites at the Cape. The famed Cape Cod Light, the reported first lighthouse on Cape Cod, is shown in North Truro. The popular Ocean St. docks in Hyannis (photo center) is a point of interest as well as the location for boarding the excursion boats for touring Lewis Bay, Nantucket Sound and other areas off Cape. Sidewalk sales (photo right) including this popular event titled the Hyannis Street Festival attracts many local residents vacationing on the Cape.

It's time for Fall sewing

It's not too early to think about sewing that wardrobe for the fall. By midsummer, fabric stores are well stocked with the essentials for the cooler months ahead. Sewing is a major investment of time and money, so be sure to invest both wisely, suggests Mary Mulvey Williams, Home Economist for the Middlesex County Extension Service.

Spend some time looking over the items that are already in the wardrobe. Separate what is useful and what is not, and then plan sewing projects that will help to expand the usefulness of items that are already in the wardrobe.

The trend of the 1980's is toward designs that will be fashionable from one year to the next. Classic clothes in quality fabrics will last for several seasons, therefore spreading the cost of the item. Think in terms of "sewing easy" and "buying difficult". In other words, buy a well-tailored jacket and increase its wearability by making several skirts that coordinate with it, and enjoy the time spent.

to be second in the line-up. I wasn't prepared at all, and while hurrying to get into my bathing suit, I got a big run in my stockings. But when I got out there, I was facing so that I could put my hand over the run and no one could see it. They only give you about two minutes to get ready and you really have to rush. I had trouble getting my lipstick on!"

Renee has been figure skating yearly at the Stoneham Arena and has also been associated with the St. Patrick's Drill Team, marching in parades. This is where she achieved the dexterity in the twirling of the heavy wooden rifle, a feat partially instrumental in the winning of her $2,100 scholarship.

She has been told that she is an excellent singer and a proficient dancer, with no professional training in these areas. Renee said, "I sing in my room almost every day. They tell me I don't need a microphone — I just open my mouth wide and sing. I guess that impressed them at the pageant."

Renee Auterio has the perfect 5 ft. 8 in. height and type of figure for modeling. She has radiant, dark brown eyes, fringed, with long lashes. She wears little make-up, which she applies expertly herself. Her hair is a luxurious shade of brown, reaching past her shoulders. On the day we met, it was fashioned into a pony tail, swept to the side. She was wearing a striking cotton, candy-striped, pink and white jump suit, tied at the shoulders — an appropriate outfit for a very humid day. She made a very striking picture.

When queried as to what type of modeling she prefers, Renee said without hesitation, "Fashion Runway Modeling. I love it."

Her mother said, "Renee participated in a mini-course at Filene's at North Shore on modeling techniques and the art of make-up. There were about twenty girls who were involved. The last part of the course required that they perform in a fashion show."

An essential tool required for any model who is seeking an agent to represent her is the model's "Book" or portfolio, containing photographs projecting different looks. Renee says that often they hardly look at the girl, but study the portfolio carefully to determine whether you have what they are looking for. When attending a photo session, she is expected to bring her own clothes and props. Pat said, "I'm running out of ideas as to what to use." The "Book" is changed and rearranged many times during the career of a model.

"Every agency is looking for something different, and it's nearly impossible to figure out what they want," said Pat.

Modeling is not all glamour, glitter and excitement. There are long, tedious hours of hard work involved, too. Renee recalls one photo session which lasted from seven p.m. until midnight and said, "I was falling asleep. The photographers throw out words such as, 'give me a funny face, a sad face, a serious face, etc., or throw your hair back, head this way, head that way', but I've found them pleasant to work with."

What about the long hours? Renee said, "I've been thinking about that a lot — getting up early in the morning, and having to get ready, and it is scary." But she feels that having gone this far, she will be able to discipline herself when it's needed. "If I really want to be a model or an actress, then I'll go the long hours."

At one agency, Renee was told that she should cut her hair. But she feels that there are many more hair styles she can create by leaving it at its current past-the-shoulder length. Renee has the ability, with a little sorcery, and the right attitude to look either her actual age of fifteen in one photograph, or as "old" as twenty-five in another. She achieves this illusion, she said, "By applying make-up a certain way and hair styling. When I put my hair up, I feel twenty-five."

Mother, Pat, fully intends to keep a sharp eye on her lovely daughter when the time comes for her to go to acting school in New York. They are a very loving, money nor the time for her to spend on such a specialized career for the others. Putting a portfolio together with an eye as to what this or that agency might be looking for is costly and time consuming.

Renee said, "I can't wait until I get to New York and start acting school. The agencies in New York would be watching. I have heard that when you walk around in New York, if a lady from an agency notices you and really thinks you're pretty enough, she will tap you on the shoulder and say, 'We can use you.' No doubt this is a rarity, but who can tell?"

When Renee was asked what model who is currently famous serves as a role model for her, she answered typically, "Oh, Brooke Shields."

Will she change if she becomes famous? Renee thinks she will learn to become better at modelling, but thinks that her values will remain the same. Mother, Pat, thinks, "Renee will just want to accomplish what her goals are — to become a successful model or actress, but she'll still be her sweet self. She has a lot of common sense."

Crawford H. Greenwalt said, "Encourage individuals to use their talents in their own ways and they will often turn a squirrel cage of frustration into a ladder of success."

There is no way of knowing under what circumstances these remarks were made. But they could have been uttered before a group of young ladies with Renee's ambitions. This charming young girl seems to have the determination and qualities to transform the "squirrel cage" of frustration into a ladder of success.

Mortgage market mix

From jacket illustration for "A Consumer's Guide to the Mortgage Maze"

For a while there, it looked as though the 30-year, fixed-rate home mortgage loan was at least going to be able to hold its own with the adjustable mortgage. When interest rates were falling, many people who had been frozen out of the home-buying market came back, looking for fixed-rate loans that would protect them from another jump in interest rates.

But the banks and other lenders also want to protect themselves. So, while rates on fixed-term mortgages have been going up, rates on adjustables have been coming down, to make them more attractive. As a result, the "spreads," or interest rate differentials between fixed- and adjustable-rate mortgages, have widened, to as much as three percentage points in some places. (On a $75,000 mortgage, the monthly payments at 13 percent would be $830.25; at 10 percent, they would be $658.50, or $171.75 less.) But if the lower rate is adjustable, a home buyer does not know what his payments will be in three years.

While some banks are widening the spreads between the two types of mortgages, other banks and savings-and-loans have simply stopped writing fixed-rate mortgages altogether.

Although an adjustable mortgage leaves the homeowner with uncertainty about what the monthly payments will be down the road, it does have one thing going for it: People who would otherwise not be able to afford the higher payments of a fixed-rate loan are able to start buying a home.

The array of "creative" home-buying options and their acronyms can be confusing. Not too many of us, for example, understand the differences between RAMs, SAMs, SEMs, GEMs, or ZRM's. Then there are wrap-arounds, buy-downs, rollovers, and sale/leasebacks.

What is needed, then, is a book that clearly and accurately describes these mortgage plans and the changes in the marketplace that spawned them. For the most part, this book does that.

I say for the most part because Mr. Turner, a real estate broker in Washington, D.C., occasionally leaves me wondering about the logic behind some of his statements. In a discussion of the savings-and-loan industry, for instance, he says, "In order to act with force and direction, a number of S&Ls are joining together." He backs up this statement with a discussion of planned or proposed mergers among the three major trade groups that represent the S&Ls. The relationship between mergers of trade groups and mergers of the S&Ls themselves is not explained, and no examples of mergers of S&Ls are given.

Apart from such lapses, this seems to be a useful, well-written contribution to clearing up the confusion in this fast-evolving business. Turner supplies information the layman can understand about how creative financing plans work, their risks and rewards.

He also supplies some good background on what has happened to the housing industry in recent years: how the concept of housing as an investment has become as important as the concept of shelter; how the banking and savings industries have become more competitive in some areas and less competitive in others; how the definition of a "house" has changed as condominiums have become more popular.

One of the new financing plans Mr. Turner likes is the growing-equity mortgage, or GEM. With this one, the buyer gets an interest rate that is two or three points below the current fixed mortgage rate, for the first year. After that payments can go up or down, with the new rate being tied to the Commerce Department's index of per capita disposable income.

While this may look like an adjustable mortgage, the advantage is that the extra money is used to pay off the principal, which means that the house is paid off sooner, perhaps in half the time. If the index falls, then the homeowners simply get to make smaller monthly payments. Either way, they come out ahead.

Another plan, one the author does not like, is called a reverse annuity mortgage, or RAM. With this one, a house that is owned free and clear can be used to borrow 60 to 80 percent of its value for a term of 10 to 20 years. "Reverse" means the lender pays the homeowner, not the other way around. The danger of this comes at the end of the loan term, or at the passing of the borrower (most RAMs are written for elderly people), when the loan must be paid back or the lender gets the house. Usually the debt can be repaid by selling the house, but if the home has not appreciated as expected, there can be some unpleasant surprises.

For those who decide to go ahead with a home purchase, there is a useful chapter on how to complete a mortgage application package, with such tips as a reminder that the buyer has a right to ask that all relevant papers be delivered 10 working days before the settlement.

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

Larry Ahern (of Woburn) and I attended the wedding of a fellow employee and the lovely Kathy Sullivan of Lynnfield. During the ceremony the nervous bridegroom asked, "Is it Kismet that you are the bride now?" "Not yet," responded Father Kevin, "But soon."

Writing this column is a pleasure because of the wonderful people I meet — like Mr. Robert Spence, and his manager Jackie Young of the Spence Farm Stand. These wonderful new friends, took the time from a busy schedule to help me with a garden problem. Thank You. Last year I sent for and received, "a garden bug killer," two blocks of wood marked "A" and "B." The instructions were, place bug on block A and strike sharply with block B. If I was "smart" I would have sent two dollars for two blocks of wood. Here's a tip for you gardeners, plant one row of potatoes and then a row of onions, etc. The onions will make the EYES of the potatoes water — Self Irrigation.

I think my son Tommy is going to be a doctor. He's in the fifth grade and nobody can read his writing. My Aunt Maria of Wakefield called out to the paperhanger working in the next room, "Are you working? I don't hear any noise." "Well, lady," he snapped, "I'm not putting the paper on with a hammer!"

Neil Gaeta, Lee Lebell, Fred Ezekiel and Ken Carrier are members of a Barber Shop Quartet (all of Winchester) They harmonize beautifully, but they do sound better when the "Basses" are loaded.

I walked into a seafood restaurant in Woburn and asked, "Do you serve crabs?" "Yes," responded the owner "providing that you wear proper dress."

The average man would rather have beauty than brains because the average man can see better than he can think. I'm tired of hearing quips like "Firestone had a Goodyear." It all "stems" from the job I had in a rubber ball factory where I had my "ups and downs."

Steve Purrington, from Wakefield, works for UPS delivering packages. You might say he was born in the business for his grand grandfather owned a string of laundries and left Steve quite a "bundle."

I was a Boy Scout years ago — a member of the Beaver Patrol, then I had my teeth straightened and I was "drummed out." Mary Jo and Alton Pym of Burlington, better not enter any beauty contests together, they'll send the judges crazy trying to decide who is prettier.

It's all right to drink like a fish — providing you drink what a fish drinks. Strikes everywhere, I saw "pickets" all around a fence company. The glue company workers said "we must all strike together." Workers in a clock factory want shorter hours — they think 60 minutes are too long. Even the dentists are saying, "We must all 'Pull' together."

Salvatore Marchese is a chemist but he could easily double for Luciano Pavarotti, both in looks and singing ability. Sal, you do have one drawback — you believe in the therapeutic value of garlic so the first six rows where you perform must remain vacant.

The most luxurious, green vigorous grass generally grows in a crack in the sidewalk. Joseph Foley of Wilmington and Ira Somerset, are two shell-fish persons. They are in charge of the clams, oysters and lobsters harvested on the Atlantic waters, they work for FDA.

A sewer worker for Woburn is retiring. He will never have to go on welfare, for he'll always have a "scent." Just one small David and Goliath cocktail and you're "stoned." My army psychiatrist said to me, "You're crazy." When I demanded a second opinion he said, "O.K., you're ugly, too." I remember when motion pictures were silent — now most of them are unspeakable. I said to the cannibal chief, "Sir, your wife made a beautiful stew." "Thank you," he responded, "but I'm sure going to miss her."

A sign in "Yellowstone National Park" says, "Take nothing but pictures-leave nothing but footprints." A real estate agent with the most beautiful brogue I ever heard told my dear friend Howie Murphy of North Reading, "I'm going to show you a house without a flaw." "My goodness," said Howie, "what are we going to walk on?"

I stopped and asked a lady watering a beautiful flower garden in Winchester, if she read this column. "Of course," she said. Her name is Celeste Ciampa who said, "How come an Irishman has an Italian name?" "I'm lucky," I told her, "My mother was Irish and my father was Italian."

My neighbor on the other hand is all American. He won't buy a Japanese car, a German camera, or French Fries.

My little nephew Mark O'Donnell of Lynnfield, was saying his prayers before going to bed. His mother Marie said, "Mark, I can't hear you." "I wasn't talking to you, Ma," he replied.

Bobby Tarpy, working as a landscaper this summer, is going to enter medical school. A fellow worker who got hit with a rake a week ago asked for his advice. It seemed that he felt dizzy for a half hour when he gets up in the morning, then he was alright for the rest of the day. The solution was simple and effective. Bobby told him to get up a half hour later.

Everytime I walk into Jack Reilly's Variety store in Woburn, I recall the time I worked in a similar store in Wakefield. A sweet old lady asked me, "how much are your eggs young man?" "80 cents a dozen," I replied, "the cracked one are 40 cents a dozen." "Good," she said, "Crack me a dozen."

John Mullen of Burlington, retired from Boston Edison sent me a wire from his summer home, telling me "Watts" new and other "Current" events.

Bill McGar, of the Woburn Elks reminds me of the late Boston Strongboy and Boxing Champion of the World, the great John L. Sullivan. Bill is as big and strong and handsome as John was and also as gentle as a lamb.

Here are the names of four beautiful young ladies who I haven't seen for over a year, Mary Ellen Mahoney, Denise Cannon, Debbie Lusano, and Joan Curran, all from Woburn. Maureen McGurin, from Tewksbury, told me she reads this column every week, then posts it on her office bulletin board. Thanks Maureen.

The Woburn Police sent out an all points bulletin for a bank robber with one eye named Bernie. They received many inquiries from area police asking what the other eye is called.

The telephone company is installing a trunk line for a new elephant house at the zoo. I tried to call the King of the Jungle, but the Lions were all busy. A zebra got a promotion; they gave him another stripe.

Frank Mazzoni, bought a canary from my Aunt Maime who guaranteed it to be an excellent singer. Frank's neighbor's in Tewksbury noticed that the poor bird was lame. The indignant Frank returned the canary and demanded his money back. "Well," snapped my aunt, "what in the world did you want, a singer or a dancer?"

Scott Cambell, my friend and fellow worker bought his kids a daschund, so all of them could pet him at the same time. A fellow I know started working as a bootblack years ago then he became a hair-dresser. He started working at the bottom and went right to the top.

Jimmy Fanikos, a pharmacist was asked by my aunt what she could take if she's run down. "The first thing to take," responded Jimmy, "is the license number." Danny McLaughlin, of North Reading has a beautiful tenor voice, he can hold a note for almost a minute. His wife Alice said, "What's so great about that? The bank has held one of Danny's notes for five years."

A firefly backed into a flaming candle and exclaimed, "delighted!!! No End!!!!"

In summer

Pest problems

During the summer, many home owners have the problem of maggots in their garbage pails. The presence of these white squirming worms in garbage or anywhere else is objectionable to say the least! To solve the maggot problem, there are several points to be considered:

The homeowner should realize that maggots are only baby flies. Preventing flies from laying eggs on or near garbage will usually solve the problem. A tight fitting garbage can cover or keeping the can in a screened area will help deter the adult flies. Garbage dropped on the ground outside the can or outside the liner attracts flies and start a maggot infestation.

Sanitation is very important in controlling fly maggots. The garbage container should be thoroughly washed with hot water and soap or household disinfectant every time it is emptied during "maggot season".

Insecticide sprays can be used to kill both adult flies and maggots. However, these materials should be non-toxic to pigs, which eat garbage. An insecticide such as pyrethrum is non-toxic and can be sprayed around the cover of the garbage can, outside the can liner and under the can.

THEATRE WORKSHOP

Attention, all you budding thespians! Have you been itching to become involved in the glamour, the excitement, and the camaraderie of a theatrical production? Now is your chance! The North Reading Theatre Workshop, Inc. is holding auditions for its Fall production of "Hello, Dolly!" on September 6, 7, and 8 at North Reading High School at 7:30 p.m. The N.R.T.W. is a community based theatre troupe which presents three musicals a year, and has been critically acclaimed for its attention to the finer details of a production, including lighting, costume, and set design. Although located in North Reading, our membership encompasses such surrounding communities as Andover, Lawrence, Lynnfield, Reading, Wakefield, Wilmington and Woburn.

"Hello, Dolly!" which will be directed and produced by Paul D. Greene, is the musical version of Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker," and includes such musical favorites as "Put on Your Clothes," "Sunday," "Before the Parade Passes By," and of course, "Hello, Dolly!" The show, which will be presented in early December, calls for a large chorus and many dancers, including lots of men! If you are interested in a chorus or leading role, please come prepared to sing a song from the show; dancers, please wear appropriate footwear! We also need people who want to work backstage or in a technical capacity; please come to the auditions and make yourself known!

For further information and details involving the N.R.T.W., or the auditions, please call the Greens at 24 Haverhill Street, North Reading, and we'll see you on September 6th!

PWP

Parents Without Partners (PWP), Merrimack Valley Chapter 136, will hold a general meeting, September 7 at 8 p.m. at the North Andover VFW, Chickering Road (Rt. 125) at Park Street. Newcomers welcome. For additional information call: 475-2276, 689-4379, 374-8455, 453-2078.

M.A.I.W.

The September meeting of the Middlesex Chapter of the Mass. Association of Insurance Women, Inc. will be held on September 12 at the Best Western East in the Terrace Room at 744 Totten Road in Waltham. Cocktails will be at 5:00 P.M. and dinner will be at 6:15 P.M. Our guest speaker for the evening will be Edward J. Czarnowski, CLU, Assistant Director and Dean of the Insurance Institute Center for Continuing Education at the Northeastern University. Our hostess for the evening will be Central Mutual Insurance Co. The dinner choices Schrod or Chicken at $13.95 made payable to MC of MAIW, Inc. Reservations may be sent to Denise Butcher or Susan Frederickson - Central Mutual Insurance Co., 235 Wyman Street in Waltham, Mass. 02154 or phone 890-1752. We hope that any insurance women in the area will join us.

YARD SALE

The Our Place Credence Club will be sponsoring a yard sale to benefit M.E.L.D. Center Inc., a community based social service center on Saturday, September 10, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Our Place is located on 38 Pleasant St., Stoneham at the intersection of Pleasant and Williams Sts., opposite the Central Elementary School. If you have any articles, furniture, attic treasures, etc., that are collecting dust, we would greatly appreciate your donation to the yard sale. We are also available to pick up items at your home. Our telephone number is 438-8800. We are open Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Our Place M.E.L.D. Center serves the communities of Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield and Woburn.

HEARING DOGS

Three totally different "working dog" programs will be demonstrated at the Middlesex County 4-H Fair, which will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 26, 27 and 28 in Westford.

Providing "foster homes" for puppies which will be trained as guide dogs for the blind is a 4-H project which only a few 4-H'ers and their families have participated in. Some of these puppies will be at the Fair, along with some fully trained Guide Dogs. Dogs, trained to respond to a wide variety of sounds, will exhibit their unique talents, and again, there will be a return visit by the fascinating and exciting State Police Canines.

The three-day Horse Show starts at 8:30 Friday morning, and thus the competition for the best horses, livestock, pigeons, rabbits, caviar, apple pies, corn husking, pie-eating, arts and crafts, flowers and vegetables and photography begins!

Admission to the Middlesex County 4-H Fair is free for children under 12, 50 cents for senior citizens and $2.00 for a one-day pass or $4.00 for a three-day pass for children over 11 and adults.

Parking is available directly across from the 4-H Fairgrounds, which are located on South Chelmsford Road in Westford and can easily be reached by Routes 495 and 110 and by Route 27.

Men's Club enjoys music-magic

The August 10 meeting of Wakefield Retired Men's Club featured Ralph (Major Bowes) Wentzel's amateurs.

Pianist Paul Strain of the Music Committee opened the program with a medley of snappy selections. When Paul is in the groove, the 88 black and whites sound like 176.

The 'major' introduced club magician Doug Dixon, who's delightfully deceptive delusions drew deserved applause. Mr. Dixon was assisted by several volunteers, Messrs. Flewelling, Day, Griffin, Graves and Walsh. He proved that 'the hand is indeed, quicker than the eye.'

From magic to music as Frank Celani played two numbers each on concertina and guitar. He commented, "You can believe me when I tell you that this concertina is 75 years old, because I brought it with me from the 'old country'." Frank was a 'real hit' when he switched to guitar and sang 'Enjoy yourself, it's later than you think!'

Ralph Wentzel's choice to close the program was a vocal group with Al Webber directing. With Paul Strain on piano, the group sang a medley of 'oldies but goodies' that could be listed thusly: In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree, In the Good Old Summertime, I Had a Dream, Dear, That I've Been Working on the Railroad. In the Good Old Summertime was repeated with audience participation.

The closing number was a popular hymn, 'How Great Thou Art' (It was sung at the memorial service for late member Erwin 'Gus' Seavey.) The first verse was a tenor solo by Anthony Catanzano, with refrain by the chorus. Tony recited the second verse with the group humming the music. The refrain was sung a third time joined by the audience. The finish to the morning's program proved to be a rather moving experience.

At the conclusion of the social period, President Tom Coughlan tapped the starting bell and announced attendance as 221. Visitors included: Gordon Blood, Tavares, Florida; Wyman S. Randall, Melrose and Harland F. Wing, Burlington. Membership privileges were accorded Alfred L. Hart, Reading and Steve Piazza, Stoneham. Kenneth G. Horton, Reading was invited to the ceremony, as his reception at the last meeting was incomplete.

First Vice-president elect Les Merrifield read the birthday list and 10 members assembled for special greetings. John Griffin's S&A report informed that Harry Goodwin is now a resident of the Masonic Home in Charlton. A moment of silence was observed in memory of Charles Hammond, late of Reading. Recupercating at home are Bill Stodder, Stoneham; Art Kimball and Art Zorbas, both of Melrose.

Past-president George Flewelling drew Arthur Lyons' number as winner of the door-prize and then subbed for Paul Richmond's 'tho't for the day'.

Bob 'trips' Sproul reported that a sweater was useful on George's Island, August 8 when Boston had a record 96 degrees. Paul Ehlerl will conduct the trip to Deerfield, N.H. Fair, September 30, as Mr. Sproul and 43 others will be winging their way to Hawaii.

The August 24 meeting will feature a slide presentation by the MVRP Society of railroad buffs. This will be a don't miss event!

Hints for the homemaker

Washday blues needn't be sung around your house if you follow a few simple laundry rules. For instance, close hooks and zippers to prevent snags. Mend rips and tears. Check pockets for tissues and other "treasures." Read care labels before washing any garment. They give washing instructions and fiber content.

It can be easy to be on the right scent when you want to control odors in children's clothes. Simply use a safe laundry additive such as 20 Mule Team Borax. It makes for naturally cleaner, fresher smelling diapers and underwear and bed linens as well.

Sort your laundry before washing. Colors should be separated. Whites, lights and darks. That goes for fabrics, too...delicates, synthetics, permanent press and non-synthetics. New garments, especially bright or dark colors, often contain excess dye. Wash them separately the first few times to remove that excess.

— Tidbits —

In Namibia's Etosha National Park, the world's largest corral holds an estimated 80,000 mammals within a 500-mile-long wire fence, National Geographic reports. While blocking some migration routes, it also helps prevent animals from being shot for straying onto surrounding farms.

NIGHTHAWK MIGRATION

The Massachusetts Audubon Society is conducting a Nighthawk Migration Watch through September 7. Each fall, nighthawks migrate through New England on their way to wintering grounds in South America. The majority of the nighthawks will pass through from August 27 to September 3. The purpose of the watch is to gather information about nighthawk migration.

Nighthawks are medium-sized birds about the size of robins. They are blackish-brown, have a white throat and a bold white slash near the tip of their long, slender wings. Nighthawks have a characteristic flight; they bound and swoop erratically, frequently uttering their distinctive call — a nasal "peent".

On warm summer evenings in mid-August, the first of a steady procession of migrating nighthawks begins to thread its way south. They are often seen flying over the tree tops or near water. In the Greater Boston area, nighthawks might be familiar to devotees of night games at Fenway Park, or at the tennis matches at Longwood in Brookline where these birds can be seen hawking around the lights for insects.

The Nighthawk Migration Watch was established to answer specific questions about migration. These questions include the effects of weather on the birds' migration, and the distribution of migrant nighthawks in Massachusetts. Those interested in participating in the Watch can obtain report forms and more in-

International Customer Service Representative

As a result of rapid expansion, our young, medical products company has created this highly visible opportunity reporting directly to our International Sales Manager.

You will have the special challenge of drawing upon your 5+ years' background in International Customer Service or Export Coordination to establish efficient procedures/practices and work independently on a variety of administrative tasks.

Your experience in a manufacturing environment should include pro forma invoices, letters of credit, customs documents, shipping papers/bills of lading, export procedures, liaison with shipping brokers and freight forwarders, and frequent contact with foreign Sales Reps and customers. Typing at 60 wpm required. Shorthand, order-entry and/or invoicing experience on a CRT, and fluency in a foreign language would all be advantageous.

To apply, please send your resume, noting current salary, to Vice President, Administration.

DRESSER

M/A COM is a rapidly growing supplier of components and systems for telecommunications and defense applications. Our M/A COM Components Group consists of a dozen companies, each specializing and focusing their energies on a unique area of the communications industry.

Bring your career into focus with M/A COM Components Companies. Because a great career is what interests you most.

All you need to do is call this number 272-6933. You'll hear a recorded message telling you about the kind of people we're looking for. Then you can tell us about yourself, your name, address and phone number and of course, any appropriate experience you've had.

GOVERNMENT SALES ADMINISTRATOR

We're seeking a highly responsible individual who understands the importance of attending to details. Overseeing incoming correspondence from government agencies relative to contracts, sales orders and proposals. You'll undertake a wide variety of responsibilities critical to the government sales function. In addition to processing and responding to correspondence, you'll prepare bid folders for IFB's (Invitations for Bid), RFQ's (Requests for Quotation) and RFQ's (Requests for Quotes), maintaining all appropriate records. You'll also maintain job files for contracts, sales orders and proposals, review shipping logs for government orders, maintaining up-to-date schedules, and interface with the engineering and production groups to monitor company adherence to its commitments.

To qualify, you should have an Associates Degree or its equivalent, familiarity with government office scheduling, plus be able to handle the miscellaneous clerical duties this position involves.

We offer an unparalleled package. Excellent starting salaries, with frequent reviews. Plus profit sharing, stock purchase and retirement plans, dental, health and life insurance, paid holidays and vacations, an extensive in-house training program and tuition reimbursement. You can grow as far as you like.

So call us. Pick up the phone and dial M/A COM's Instant Opportunity line at 272-6933. You can call any time of the day or night. After work, before breakfast, or in the middle of the night. The quicker you call us, the quicker we'll get back to you.

A Nature Walk

The New England Field Office of the Nature Conservancy will sponsor field trips to properties that the Conservancy has protected in Massachusetts. Each field trip will be led by a naturalist knowledgeable about the area's important features, plants, and animals. There is no fee for these trips, but the Conservancy does require reservations. Walks will be held rain or shine. Wear comfortable walking shoes.

Miles Standish State Forest and Halfway Pond, Plymouth. Sunday, August 28th at 11 AM. This trip will begin at Miles Standish State Forest. The morning's journey will be through the fire-prone pitch pine/scrub oak forests of the state forest while after lunch a canoe ride to Halfway Pond Island is scheduled. This 12-acre Conservancy preserve shows little evidence of human disturbance and contains one of the oldest remaining forests in Massachusetts.

Crooked Pond, Plymouth. Saturday, September 17 at 11 AM. Dr. Terry Graham will lead this walk around Crooked Pond and explain his research on the red-bellied turtle.

Beaver Brook Valley Preserve, Boxboro. Sunday, October 16 at 2 PM. This 82-acre preserve protects the best example in Massachusetts of a long, straight esker and a rarely found esker-top kettlehole. The esker rises dramatically in places and is bounded by wetlands on both sides. Deer, red-fox and many birds frequent the sanctuary which supports a wide diversity of ecosystem types within a relatively small area.

Reed Brook Preserve, Florida. Sunday, October 22 at 12 noon. This preserve provides habitat for seven rare plants. This serpentine outcrop, which accounts for the unusual plant life and provides a lovely view over the Deerfield River Valley,

Masterpieces readied for display

Whistler's "Mother", Gilbert Stuart's famous portraits of "George and Martha Washington", John Singer Sargent's "Madame X", and Thomas

Eakins's "Gross Clinic" are the many icons of American art to be included in the exhibition "A New World: Masterpieces of American Painting, 1760-1910", at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, September 7 through November 13.

While the exhibition includes the work of 49 artists, it focuses on ten major painters - John Singleton Copley, Thomas Cole, Frederic E. Church, Martin Johnson Heade, Fitz Hugh Lane, George Caleb Bingham, William Sidney Mount, William Harnett, Winslow Homer, and Thomas Eakins - who have come to be seen as the most talented and creative figures of their time. Each is represented in depth, with numerous examples from the high points of the painters' careers.

Nautical exhibitions

The Hart Nautical Galleries at MIT, Building 5-126, 77 Mass. Ave., Cambridge will host a display of the schooner "Freedonia", color lithographs of the "America", winner of the 100 Guinea Cup, which later became known as the America's Cup and a tribute to William Baker, featuring an exhibition of watercolors, drawings, plans of historic vessels, etchings and models. Also on display will be a review of MIT ocean research and a historical view of ship design and construction.

The clock is winning

Men and women in increasing numbers are spending time outside the home. Consequently, the amount of time left to prepare a full dinner is limited.

"The Clock Watcher's Cookbook", published by Yankee Publishing Inc., Dublin, NH is designed to reduce kitchen time to 60 minutes or less. The softcover book, comb bound for easy use, contains more than 175 recipes that show you how to save time without sacrificing taste.

The book contains a section on how to utilize labor-saving devices such as blenders, food processors, electric frying pans, and microwave ovens as well as a recipe timetable, with all recipes cross-referenced in six categories: last minute dishes (from cupboard to table in under 30 minutes), quick-to-prepare recipes (5, 10, 15 minutes), recipes that adapt to microwave cooking, make-ahead dishes, calorie conscious dishes and recipes for chocolate lovers.

The retail price is $8.95 (or $9.95 postpaid from Yankee Books, Depot Square, Peterborough, NH 03458).

From cooking to hunting for rare plants, from delighting in American painting masterpieces to examining the science of the sea, COMING ATTRACTIONS has something for everyone. But you must know of an event of interest to all that we have somehow overlooked. Write, care of this local newspaper and tell us all about it. Our interests are as diverse as yours.
